POLICE SYSTEM REVOLUTIONIZED IN HADLEY BILLS

Practically Only Half the Personnel Can Belong to but One Political Party.

MUST AVOID CLUBS

Also Prohibited From Making Any Contributions to City Organizations.

BOARD OF 5 MEMBERS

President to Receive $5000 a Year and Must Devote All His Time to Office.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—Gov. Hadley's ideas of a home rule police system for St. Louis are embodied in two bills introduced by Senator Krone of St. Louis today.

The salient features of the bills are:

1. The Board of Police Commissioners will continue to consist of five members, one to be appointed by the Governor and four by the Mayor.

2. Not more than two of the Mayor's appointees shall belong to the same party.

3. The Mayor has power to remove his appointees for official misconduct or neglect, while the Governor has like power over all the commissioners.

4. The President of the Board, at $5000 a year, shall devote his entire time to the general supervision of the police force, acting, however, as an officer of the Board under its direction and subject to its power of removal.

5. While the custodian of its property, he is required to make police inspections and must inquire into social conditons to ascertain the causes of crime and the means of its prevention.

6. Civil service is provided for, with competitive examinations, and promotion on merit and through senority of service; but while the outlines are prescribed, it is left for the board to fill in the details.

7. The board must so make its future appointments that not more than one-half of the probationary patrolmen, sergeants and turnkeys shall belong to the same political party, but no such restriction is imposed as to lieutenants, captains and other high officers.

8. All members of the force are prohibited from belonging to any club or contributing to one. Neither shall the police solicit or interfere at election.

The patrolmen are divived into three classes, those of the first-year service to receive $880, those of the second year $980, and those of the third year $1080.

The whole police force is to be carried over in its present personnel without reappointments, so the new law makes no change in this respect.

Excise Home Rule Also.

Senator Krone also introduced a bill providing for home rule of the Excise Commissioner's office.

"This bill," said Senator Krone, "simply transfers the appointing powers from the Governor to the Mayor with a reserved power of removal in the Governor for official misconduct or neglect.

"Before going into the matter systematically I was strongly in favor of giving both petitioners and remonstrancers a right to appeal or review on the decision of the Commissioner. This seemed to me sorely needed in order to correct the arbitrary abuses of power to which we have of late become accustomed.

"Investigation into the law on the subject seems to me to arise insuperable obstacles to a jurisdictional review by certiorrari or a review on the merits on appeal to the courts or to a specially constituted board of appeals.

"Objections of a legal or practical character seem to me to dictate that the people of the city should rest content with a law which gives the appointment of the Excise Commissioner to a Mayor whom they themselves elect.

"And I think the change will help greatly to make the enforcement of an obnoxious though necessary law less disagreeable."

Bottoms Gang Member Sentenced.

Frank ("Gutter") Newman, a member of the Bottoms Gang, pleaded guilty before Judge Shields in the Criminal Court, Wednesday, to the charge of forging the name of Dwight Davis to orders for clothing on two stores, and was sentenced to a year in jail.

"Hello, pard," said the Bottoms Gang member to the policeman.

"Don't you call me pard," said the policeman, putting his hand back.

"Aw, that's all right. If the Standard Oil Co. is going in partnership with the State, I guess the Bottoms Gangs and the police won't have any trouble getting together. We've got our attorney down at headquarters now to consult with the Board's attorney, and they are going to take steps to formulate a plan to devise a system to adopt measures to fix it up."

The weather forecast:

Fair tonight, followed by unsettled weather Thursday; mild temperature; southerly winds; minimum temperature tonight, 42 degrees. Change to colder weather is probable by Saturday.

The river is at 5.6, a fall of one foot.

Missouri—Fair tonight and Thursday; moderate temperature.

Illinois—Fair tonight and Thursday, except probably threatening in northern portions; warmer tonight.

"HOME OF THE FRIENDLESS," ME FOR THAT, SAID TRAMP AS HE CURLED UP ON SOFA

But Matron Had Him Arrested Despite Protests That He Was "Friendless."

As Edward Kelley, homeless and cold, walked aimlessly Tuesday night he saw the sign "Home of the Friendless" over a doorway at 4421 South Broadway. The place was all lighted up and looked warm and cozy.

"Me for the home of the friendless," said Kelley, and he walked in. No one was in sight, so he made himself at home. He stretched out on a sofa in the parlor and went to sleep.

Dora Dawson, the matron, found him snoring there when she came in a half-hour later. She awakened him and asked him to please go out.

"What?" said Kelley; "me get out? Ain't this the home of the friendless?"

"It is, but you must leave."

"That's a joke," said Kelley, as he fell back on the cushions and gave a grunt of content.

Miss Dawson called a policeman and had Kelley arrested. In the Wyoming District Police Court Wednesday Judge Kleiber fined Kelley $10.

As Kelley turned to go, he remarked: "But I do think they ought to take that sign from over the door."

SHEETS MUST BE NINE FEET LONG IF THIS BILL PASSES

House Gets 103 Measures in First Hour, Many Aimed to Regulate Saloons.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—The House reached the introduction of bills this morning, and when the Speaker announced it, practically the whole of the Assembly was on its feet, each member shouting for recognition. Mitchell of Polk gained the distinction of getting in bill No. 1, which provided for prohibiting the sale of liquor to minors.

When the rush was over 103 bills had been introduced. One prohibits officeholders from being interested in saloons, and another is aimed at ballplaying on Sunday.

Bills were also introduced in the Senate to compel innkeepers to furnish sheets nine feet long to their guests, and fixing the rates for berths in sleeping cars at $1 for upper and $1.50 for lowers.

KNEE JOINT OF DEAD MAN IS GRAFTED ON HOSPITAL PATIENT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Using the knee of a dead man, George A. Kelley, a patient in the Georgetown Hospital, will soon be walking about the streets, say the surgeons. Kelley injured his knee several months ago and went to the hospital where it was declared amputation was imperative. Just about the time that Dr. George Tully Vaughan was preparing the patient for amputation an inmate of the hospital died. Permission was obtained from the dead man's relatives, and before his body was cold Dr. Vaughan cut out the knee joint. Kelley was placed under chloroform, his knee joint removed, and in less than half an hour he was wearing the knee of the dead man. Surgeons say this operation has not been performed but once before in history.

16 ST. LOUISANS' NAMES USED IN LAND FRAUDS

None Knew That the Big Deal to Get 386 Lots in Muskogee Was On.

BOOGHER TELLS PLAN

Governor Haskell's Company Made Transfers After the Lots Were Awarded.

The names of 16 St. Louisans were used in the entering of lots in the towns of Muskogee and Okmulgee in Oklahoma, which were later transferred to a company organized by Gen. Pleasant Porter, chief of the Creek Nation, Gov. C. N. Haskell of Oklahoma, Clarence Turner, W. R. Eaton and Charles Duffy, a transaction which a Federal Grand Jury in Muskogee is now investigating on the theory that the company was formed as a part of a conspiracy to defraud the Government.

James Avery Webb, a St. Louis attorney, and a brother-in-law of former Gov. Folk, and John C. Wilkinson, once president of the Missouri Trust Company, have been called by the Grand Jury to be questioned about names they are said to have obtained.

Webb in Muskogee.

Mr. Wilkinson has been before the grand jury, while Mr. Webb is now in Muskogee for that purpose. Mr. Wilkinson, who is now in Warrensburg, Mo., on business, said to a reporter for the Post-Dispatch, over the long-distance telephone, that he had no statement to make regarding the Muskogee land matters, and that he did not intend to discuss the case.

None of the St. Louisans were aware at the times their names were used what was being done, it is said. Twelve of the 16 are: Howard Boogher, president of the Boogher, Force & Goodbar Hat Co.; William T. Wilkinson, Margaret E. Wilkinson, James C. Wilkinson, Dr. Fayette Ewing, Minerva Webb, V. J. Webb, Stanley D. Pearce, J. G. McConkey, William F. Scott, M. C. Webb and John C. Wilkinson.

Dispatches from Muskogee say there is no question of forgery before the grand jury, but that there has been evidence of the forgery of names of several men from Nashville, Tenn. So far as is known there has been no charge of forgery in connection with the St. Louisans.

Howard Boogher recently returned from Muskogee, where he testified before the grand jury. To a reporter of the Post-Dispatch Mr. Boogher said:

"At the time the two townsites were laid out they embraced farms owned by a number of persons who had improved them. Some had erected buildings. It was the idea of the Government officials that these persons should not lose all their improvements, and it was arranged that they should be permitted to enter lots in the towns at one-half the assessed valuation, while persons who had not settled on that land were compelled to pay the full valuation. There was also a law that no company or collection of persons should be permitted to file on a large number of lots.

Boogher Already Testified.

"Gen. Pleasant Porter, Clarence Turner of Muskogee and others had settled on some of this property. They organized a company, which also included Gov. Haskell, W. R. Eaton and Charles Duffy. The plan adopted was to enter the lots in the names of many different people, then to transfer them through several parties to a trustee for the company. This would place the property under control of the company.

"I understand that in all there were 386 lots so obtained.

Authorities Knew of Deal.

"My information, gathered at this late day through inquiries in Muskogee, is that the townsite commission had full knowledge of the transactions and how it was being done. In fact, there was no effort to conceal it, as the transfers were made on paper bearing Haskell's name. I am satisfied these men thought they had a perfect right to do what they did.

"As far as the use of my name is concerned, I have no recollection of ever giving anybody permission to file on a lot for me. It has been a long time ago, and I may have done so. I have no recollection of ever giving a quit-claim deed to my lot, but I may have done that. When I was in Muskogee I asked the Haskell people to show me my signature on a deed, but they did not do so. Other persons who had no recollection of signing deeds, were shown their signatures, however, showing the matter had passed out of their minds."

Dr. Fayette C. Ewing said:

"At the time this matter was being pushed I was living for a short time at the home of a friend, at one time a banker, whose name I will not give because of my high regard for his family. He told me one day he had entered my name for a lot.

"I did not take much stock in the

Daring Girl Who Substituted Word "Humor" for "Obey" in Wedding Ritual

MRS. ORA DELL PICKERT.

BRIDE PROMISES TO "HUMOR," NOT "OBEY" HUSBAND

A St. Louis bride, Mrs. Ora Dell Pickert of 4432A West Belle place, has found a solution of a problem that has worried brides for centuries. She has found a substitute for the word "obey" in the marriage service.

Thousands of other brides have balked at that "short, ugly word." Nearly always, when they were asked why, their answer was "because," and until now, not one in the long line has suggested another word to take its place.

But now comes this St. Louis young woman with the word, and here it is:

H-U-M-O-R.

Until she went to St. Charles with Charles E. Pickert under the chaperonage of Cupid, she was Miss Ora Dell Keese.

The marriage license had been made out and the young couple had turned to leave the office, when Justice Frei, one of the famous "marrying judges" of St. Charles, entered the Recorder's office.

"Ah," he said, smiling, "may I not have the pleasure of performing the ceremony?"

"You may," said Miss Keese, "if you will agree to one thing."

"And what is that?"

"Well," said the blushing bride-elect, "you must leave out the word 'obey.'"

"O, yes, I can do that."

"And you must substitute for it the word 'humor.'"

"I like the word 'humor' much better than the word 'obey,'" said the bride to a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday. "It is a prettier word, dont you think?

"You see, I have been a stenographer the last four years. Mr. Pickert and I worked for a large electrical supply house. I took dictation, not from Mr. Pickert, but from another man.

"So, you see, I know what it is to be dictated to, and I can't say that I would enjoy it in married life. My idea is that it is much more pleasant to be requested to do things than to be ordered to do them.

PAYS $1.50 A DAY TO KEEP RIVAL IN BELLEVILLE JAIL

Plaintiff Got $50 Judgment Against the Prisoner for Slander and the Latter Refused to Pay It or Costs.

The board and lodging of Harry Joseph, a prisoner for debt in the Belleville Jail, is being paid for at the rate of $1.50 a day by Harry Rosenburg, who had him put there.

They are rival clothing merchants at Lebanon, Ill. Rosenberg sued Joseph for $2000, alleging that Joseph slandered him and said things about him which injured his credit as a merchant.

Before the case went to trial there was an agreement by which Rosenberg accepted a judgment of $50 against Joseph. But he didn't get the money.

Refused to Pay Judgment.

Joseph refused to pay, alleging that he did not have any property above the value of $400, which was exempt from judgment under the law.

To make matters worse for Rosenberg the Court decided that as Joseph had no seizable assets the costs in the case, amounting to $38.80, would have to be paid by the plaintiff.

So, instead of being $50 ahead as result of the litigation, Rosenberg was out money.

"Isn't there any way I can get even with him?" he asked his lawyer.

"Yes, you might use a capias ad satisfaciendum on him."

"Is that a single-barreled or a double-barreled weapon?"

"Single, I think. I'll look it up," said the lawyer.

Rosenberg told him to go ahead. Too late he learned that the weapon was double-barreled.

Had Old Authority.

Under the authority of an old statute thecapias was served on Joseph. This provides that in a case where a debt is contracted through a violation of the law the person to whom the money is owed can have the debtor imprisoned for a term not to exceed one year. But he must pay the debtor's board to the State.

Joseph was taken to the Belleville Jail and locked up Tuesday. He kissed his wife and baby boy good-by and took with him a plentiful supply of smoking tobacco, books and magazines.

As he was being taken into the jail he said:

"All right, I'll stay here as long as Rosenberg pays the bill. Business is bad anyway, and I might as well loaf in jail."

Joseph's imprisonment has presented a strange legal tangle to members of the Belleville bar. It is the first time the statute has ever been enforced in St. Clair County and lawyers are talking of nothing else.

Prisoner Is Happy.

Joseph himself is not asking for legal advice. "I'll stick and make Rosenberg spend his money on me," he says.

"What could I do?" said Rosenberg to a Post-Dispatch reporter over the long-distance telephone. "He wouldn't pay me.

"Yes, I've got to spend money for his board. But when I get mad I don't care for money.

"He talks bad about me. I sue him. He compromise. He owes me $50 and charges the costs on me, too. Wouldn't that make anybody mad?

"I won't get my money. I put him in jail. I pay his board. That's the only way I can keep him in jail."

"Well, he's got me, all right," said Joseph smiling. "Jail isn't such a nice place, but I can stand it. I wasn't in business for myself. I opened a store in Lebanon for Harry Shapiro of St. Louis. That made Rosenberg mad. He didn't want competition in the clothing business.

"Joseph Got Mad, Too."

"I got mad too, and I said something about him and he had me arrested. Maybe it was slander. I don't know.

"We settled for a $50 judgment. When I told him I could not make good he offered to take $20. But I wouldn't give him one cent.

"I don't know how long I'll have to stay in jail—maybe six months. All right. I'll stick till Rosenberg gets tired of paying my board. I've got it fixed so my wife and children will be cared for."

CLARENCE N. JONES SHOT TO DEATH BY DISMISSED EMPLOYE

Brother of Police Commissioner Killed at His Mill by Herman Kretschmar.

SLAYER HAD DEMANDED REINSTATEMENT IN OFFICE

Victim Was Member of the Grand Jury Which Criticised Police Board, of Which His Brother Was a Member, During "Graft" Exposures.

Clarence N. Jones, president of the Commonwealth Feed Mills, and brother of Police Commissioner Jones, was shot and killed in his office at Second street and De Soto avenue, in North St. Louis, Wednesday afternoon, by Herman A. Kretschmar, a member of the firm, and its former secretary and treasurer.

Jones, died a few minutes after the shooting. Kretschmar was found at the mill when policemen arrived, and was taken to the Angelica Street Police Station.

Kretschmar lives at 1718 North Grand avenue.

The slayer was recently dismissed from the firm, of which Jones is president, at a meeting of the board of directors. He went to the plant Wednesday to demand that he be reinstated. Jones tried to explain that the matter had passed out of his hands, but the man would not listen, and they quarreled. The man drew a revolver and fired three times.

Clarence N. Jones was a member of the grand jury three years ago which severely criticised the Police Board, of which George P. Jones was then a member, for dismissing policemen on graft charges supported only by the testimony of panel workers.

Jones was 50 years old, and lived at 4929 McPherson avenue. He was recently made president of the feed mills company, having formerly been vice-president. The change in the secretaryship of the company followed his elevation.

LISTENING TO SAD TALE COSTS A GROCER $5

A new wrinkle in the short-change racket was introduced to the police Tuesday night when Henry Hellerman, grocer and saloon keeper at 1951 Montgomery street, after being flim-flammed out of $5, assisted the police in capturing the swindlers.

Hellerman was alone in his saloon when two men entered at 8:30 p. m., and asked for two glasses of beer. One of them tendered a $10 bill and Hellerman, going into the grocery to make change, was followd by the "customers."

"Kindly hurry," said one of the men to Hellerman, "my baby is dying and I want to get back home as soon as possible."

Hellerman counted out a $5 bill, four $1 bills and 90 cents in change. One of the men picked up the $5 bill and the 90 cents and placed them in his pocket. Then he drew forth a $1 bill and placed it on top of the four others on the counter.

"Will you kindly give me a $5 bill for these five ones?" asked the man.

Talked of Dying Baby.

Hellerman took a $5 bill from his cash register and placed it on the counter. Then he stopped to listen to the other man, who began talking about the dying baby.

"Poor little thing," the man was saying. "It is coughing its young life away. It's the first baby we ever had and if it dies my wife will surely follow it to the grave."

Hellerman was so carried away with sympathy that he willingly gave the other man a $10 bill in exchange for his own five and the five ones. The men left the store in a hurry.

Turns Sleuth on Discovering Loss.

"Here," said Hellerman to himself, scratching his head as he examined the contents of his cash drawer. "There must be a mistake here."

Hellerman rushed out to the street and pursued the two men. He was joined in the chase by Patrolman Grotepeter and the two men were caught in a hallway at Nineteenth street and St. Louis avenue.

Frank Wigman, one of the men, was recently released from Sing Sing. He has served several prison sentences. The other man, who gave his name as Walter Bradley, told the police he had arrived here from San Francisco only a few days ago.

GIRL SHOT FOUR MEN; TWO DEAD, THIRD DYING

WACO, Tex., Feb. 3.—James Smith, one of the four men shot in the District Court room at Gatesville late yesterday by Miss Verna Ware, died today. David Ross, another victim of her bullets, is dying. John Hanes, who was shot at the same time, died late yesterday. The men were shot with steel-clad bullets.

There were conflicting reports about the part taken by Miss Ware's brother, but it is now declared that he did not fire the revolver he drew, but only kept the crowd back while his sister shot.

Miss Ware and her brother Charles are held for the shooting, but the brother is not charged with the actual commission of the crime. The girl fired the shots from an automatic pistol. Her brother is held as an accomplice.

Miss Ware was appearing as a witness against John Hanes, who was being tried on a charge she had brought against him. The girl shot him and his three witnesses, David Ross, James Smith and A. P. Wiley. Wiley may recover.

When Judge, members of the jury and the lawyers gathered around the counsel table rushed for Miss Ware she turned the pistol upon herself in an effort to end her life. The weapon was knocked from her hand.

Subdued after a brief struggle, the girl stood for a moment looking down at the four forms stretched out on the floor. Then she collapsed, and was borne, fainting, into the County Jail.

Physicians who examined her there said she was suffering from nervous prostration and pronounced her condition critical.

Miss Ware gave no warning of her intention to kill the man she accused. She appeared calm while the testimony was in progress, until Hanes, the prisoner, took the stand.

Suddenly she sprang to her feet, holding the pistol in her hand. The shots were fired so rapidly that even her lawyers, within six feet of her, had no chance to interfere until she had practically emptied the pistol.

Gatesville has been in a state of great excitement since the shooting. Threats of violence against the girl were made by friends of Hanes, and when, late last night, it was announced that there was no chance for his recovery, a party was formed, which is said to have threatened a lynching.

A leader of this party was arrested and the rest dispersed by officers. More than the town has been more quiet.

ASSEMBLY WILL ADOPT UTILITIES MEASURE FRIDAY

Joint Committee Agrees to Pass Priesmeyer Bill With Necessary Amendments.

MAYOR WILL SIGN IT

Doesn't "Envy Himself the Task of Appointing the Commission."

Promises that a bill to establish a public utilities commission will be passed by the House of Delegates next Friday night are made by Chairman Diedmer of the joint committee appointed by the Municipal Assembly to prepare a new measure.

Discussing the bill, the Mayor said to a Post-Dispatch reporter:

"The bill will find no obstacle in me. I am ready now, as heretofore, to sign any legal measure. I prefer a small commission, such as the present bill provides for.

"I do not envy myself the task of appointing a commission. I was willing enough to let that responsibility fall on the Municipal Assembly, if that method had proven legal, but I shall not shirk this duty.

Need Expect No Favors.

"The men who have their money invested in public service corporations are beginning to see the necessity of intelligent guidance for legislators. I hope the legislators appreciate that necessity, too.

"In the end, the efficiency of the regulation will depend on the personnel of the commission. The corporations cannot expect a commission which will give them favors. They have a right to expect equitable treatment.

"I have made mistakes at different times, and my critics have pointed them out. I thought the people made a mistake when they put me in office, and I said so. But I have used my best judgment in every instance."

The bill to be adopted is one that Clerk Tom Leonard of the House of Delegates drew last May for Delegate Priesmeyer, who later procured its passage through that branch of the Assembly. Since May it has been in the Council, but it will be reported with amendments Friday and passed under a suspension of the rules, if the present agreement is kept.

The commission will be composed of three members appointed by the Mayor and approved by the Council. They will serve for one, two and three years, respectively, and will receive salaries of $3400 each. An appropriation of $25,000 for expert assistance and a clerical force will be provided.

Priesmeyer's bill was chosen because it has already passed the House of Delegates and will have to be sent to that body again after adoption in the Council only for concurrence in the several amendments to be added. The House may, if it chooses, accept these changes at Friday night's meeting, and to this it is pledged. Nearly all the delegates declare themselves in favor of hurrying the measure so that a commission may begin work before the present administration retires from power.

All Councilmen Friendly.

Councilman Walther will report the bill from his committee on legislation Friday afternoon. The amendments giving the appointive power to the Mayor instead of to the Municipal Assembly, and reducing the number of commissioners from six to three, as the bill now contemplates, will be adopted under a suspension of the rules. The bill will then be put to a vote, and as all councilmen are friendly to it there is no doubt of its passage.

If the House keeps faith and rushes the bill the commission should be in existence by March 1.

The public utilities commission of Kansas City has been in existence since last spring. Since its appointment the commission has made no recommendations, with one exception, which has been of value to the people in the regulation of public service corporations.

The one valuable suggestion was that two extra street cars be run on every line during the rush hours.

That was two months ago, but the Council has never taken up the report. The street car company last week, however, announced its intention of following the recommendations without being ordered to do so by the Council.

matter, thinking the lot was probably not worth the taxes I would have to pay on it. He told me he could not enter more than one for himself.

"I thought I was getting something for nothing. Several months later he asked me for power of attorney in transferring the lot. I thought whatever he got out of it would come to me, but I never heard anything more about it, except two years later I received a letter from a stranger asking me to give a quitclaim to the lot. I did so. The transaction did not make any difference in the relations between this man and myself."

J. G. McConkey, formerly private secretary to Mayor Wells and at present Assistant City Counsellor, says he has no recollection of ever giving any person permission to enter a lot in his name. He says he has no recollection of the matter. He has not been subpenaed to testify before the grand jury.

MRS. CABANNE SAYS SHE'S WIFE OF BRANDENBURG

Defendant in Divorce Suit Here Declares She Already Has Decree.

St. Louis Woman and Magazine Writer Went to New York at Same Time.

The controversy between two women as to which is the legal wife of Broughton Brandenburg, magazine writer, has developed the fact that one of the women is the Minnie Leonard Cabanne against whom James Shepard Cabanne, scion of a noted St. Louis family, has a divorce suit pending in the Circuit Court here.

It is now known to the Cabanne family that Mrs. Cabanne left St. Louis in company with Brandenburg, but her St. Louis husband, who has just returned from an out-of-town trip, has not yet been informed that Mrs. Cabanne now says that she obtained a divorce from him and married Brandenburg.

In a letter to a St. Louis attorney Mrs. Cabanne, now styling herself Mrs. Brandenburg, says that she obtained a divorce in British Honduras and married Brandenburg there. On this information Cabanne's divorce papers were served on her as "Mrs. Brandenburg."

Writer Has Disappeared.

Brandenburg and the St. Louis woman who says she is his legal wife have been living at 62 West Ninth street, New York.

Brandenburg, under a charge of larceny in connection with his acceptance of payment for an article purporting to be by Former President Clevelapd, has disappeared, jumping his bond.

In explanation of his action, the Mrs. Brandenburg at the West Ninth street house issued a statement that his reason for disappearing was that he had no money.

Having seen this statement, Mrs. Valine Brandenburg came forward with the statement that she was the lawful wife of the writer and that he had never obtained a divorce from her.

Mrs. Minnie Leonard Cabanne-Brandenburg denied the claim of Mrs. Valine Brandenburg and told of her divorce from Cabanne and her marriage to Brandenburg.

Woman Refuses to Give Details.

A dispatch from New York says:

"'Mr. Brandenburg and I are married,' said Mrs. Minnie Leonard Cabanne Brandenburg, apparently oblivious of the fact that, despite her explanation, she was adding the charge of bigamy to the others of which Brandenburg has been accused.

"'We were married in another country and our marriage was legal there. No, I shall not tell in what country it was. And, inasmuch as his marriage to this woman who denies my right to his name was not legal and binding on Mr. Brandenburg, and inasmuch as I obtained a divorce from my husband, I am the only Mrs. Brandenburg.

"'I shall not tell either where I obtained my divorce from "Shep" Cabanne. He never heard of it and doesn't know it now. But it was a perfectly good divorce.'

"The self-styled Mrs. Brandenburg is the daughter of Simeon Leonard, who died suddenly at his home in Eddyville, Ky., four years ago, after his once large fortune had dwindled to almost nothing. "When Brandenburg separated from his wife in 1906 he went to St. Louis and it is said brought Mrs. Cabanne to New York. She had lived here for several years with her sister, the wife of Edwin Bliss, where Brandenburg met her. When he brought her from St. Louis he also brought Cabanne's little son, who has only recently been returned to his father by Mrs. Cabanne-Brandenburg."

Separated From First Wife.

Valine Brandenburg, who contests Mrs. Minnie Leonard Cabanne's claim as wife of Brandenburg, announced in New York in July, 1906, that she and her husband had separated and that so far as she was concerned there could be no reconciliation.

"I shall never live with 'Brandy' again," she said. "He is a good fellow, but all is over between us. I shall not sue for a divorce."

She said that the trouble began at a camping expedition to Greenwood Lake, a New York summer resort.

"This camping party grew out of an early morning walk which Brandy and I took through Central Park to give our dogs an airing," she said. "We met a man and his wife who had a pair of fine spaniels. With the dogs as a basis, we struck up an acquaintance and exchanged visits.

"A short time later a sister of this woman came to visit her. She was young, handsome and married, and her home was in St. Louis. When the plans for th camping trip to Greenwood Lake were made, she was invited to accompany us."

Arrested on Wife's Complaint.

Mrs. Brandenburg would not go into details as to what happened at the lake, but she said the party was suddenly broken up. The St. Louis woman left the camp and Brandenburg departed, saying he was going away "for a long rest."

His wife said that he went to Springfield, Ill., and later to St. Louis. He was at the Hamilton Hotel here when his wife's statement was published.

"My wife and I separated because of differences of long standing, which in no way decreases our esteem for each other," he said.

In the Jefferson Market Police Court in New York, in June, 1908, Brandenburg was arraigned to answer a charge of abandoning his wife, Valine.

In defense he said on the witness stand that though he and the woman were married by a minister, the marriage was not legal, because at the time of the ceremony she was the legal wife of Josiah Elser.

"That's a lie," she said. "I obtained a divorce and can prove it."

She later withdrew her complaint.

GIRL OF 12 AND MAN ELOPE; HE MAY BE HANGED

Brooklyn Couple Arrested in Baltimore on Complaint of Parents.

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 3.—Joseph Janere, 34 years old, and Katherine Loerch, a 12-year-old girl, both of Brooklyn, N. Y., were arrested today upon the request of the New York police. They had been staying at a boarding house since yesterday morning under the names of Paul and Florence Newhart.

Janere, who was said to have been a friend of the Loerch family, came here with the girl last Monday night. The girl at first declared that her mother had given her to the man. Under sharp questioning, she broke down and said Janese had lured her away by promises.

Janere was found in a barroom, in such condition that little could be learned from him. To the police the girl gave her age as 11. She said that Janere told her if anyone asked who he was to say he was her father.

Sherlock Swann, president of the police board, who took a personal interest in the case, telephoned Gov. Crothers requesting him to refuse extradition.

Janere will have a hearing this afternoon, when it is expected the charge of felonious assault, which is a capital offense in this State, will be made against him. A conviction could carry a sentence ranging from 18 months to life imprisonment or death by hanging. There have been several cases in which the death penalty was legally carried out.

THREE KILLED WHEN TRAINS COLLIDE; ONE A RUNAWAY

Trainmen Buried Beneath Debris Not Yet Recovered—Cars Roll Down Embankment.

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Feb. 3.—Three trainmen were killed and one fatally injured early today, when two stock trains on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad collided head-on at Powersville, Mo., the last station this side of the Iowa line. From details received here, it appears that one of the train was a runaway, the crew having lost control of it. The dead:

ENGINEER JOHN STIPP, Chillicothe, Mo.

FIREMAN JAMES BROWN, Ottumwa, Io.

BRAKEMAN T. F. BELCHER, Ottumwa, Io.

Engineer Tom Kent, Larado, Mo., was fatally injured.

The trains were No. 62, an east-bound stock train for Chicago, and No. 65, a west-bound freight.

All of the casualties were on No. 62. Engineer Stipp and Fireman Brown were in the first engine of this train, and together with Brakeman Belcher, were buried beneath the debris of their engine. Their bodies have not yet been recovered.

Four cars of prize livestock destined for Chicago left the track and rolled down a steep embankment, most of the cattle being killed.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF MURDER OF STEPDAUGHTER ON TRIAL

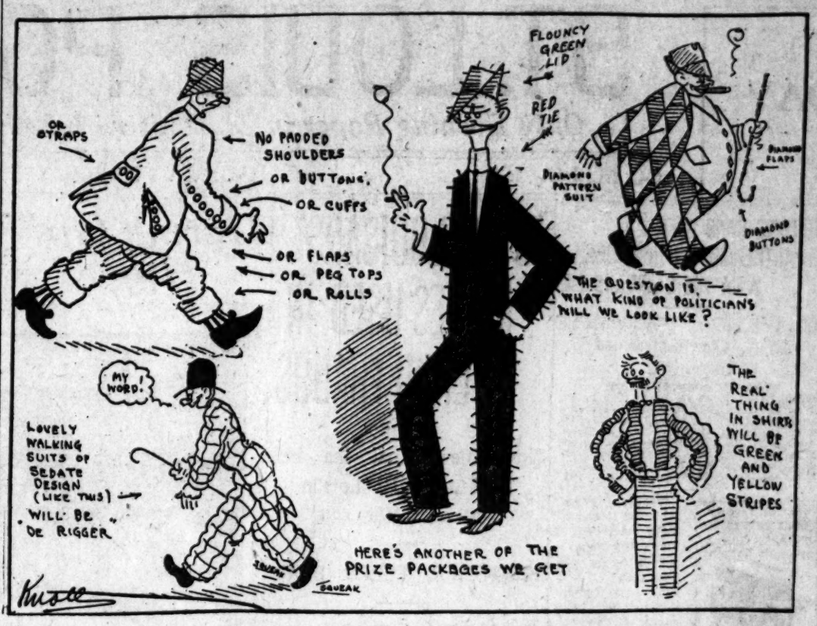

Prosecution Alleges She Killed Girl of 16, Then Advocated Suicide Theory.

DEVIL'S LAKE, N. D., Feb. 3.—The trial of Mrs. Mary Wright, charged with the murder of Beulah Cox, her stepdaughter, aged 16, near Deer Rick last summer, has begun.

The State alleges that Mrs. Wright strangled her victim and then smeared carbolic acid on the girl's lips to make it appear a case of suicide.

Mrs. John Beegel testified that she saw the body shortly after death and that there were finger marks on the girl's face and several black and blue marks on her neck.

$10,000 AIRFLIGHT PRIZE APPROVED BY FRENCHMEN

Aeronauts Believe Offer of New York World and Post-Dispatch Will Greatly Encourage Experience in Aviation.

Special Cable From the Paris Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

PARIS, Feb. 3.—At a meeting of the Aviation Committee of the Aero Club de France the $10,000 prize offered by the New York World and Post-Dispatch to aeronauts excited a most animated discussion. Opinion was unanimous that the prize will greatly encourage experiments and should cause a most interesting contest.

The Aero Club de France has not yet been officially notified of the offering of the prize so it was not possible to take official cognizance of it, but many of the members had much to say as individuals in praise of the public spirit and enterprise of The World and Post-Dispatch.

Louis Bleriot, one of the most daring aviators in France, said he considered the prize a worthy stimulus for aeronauts. His chief regret was that he probably could not get his aeroplane sufficiently perfected to enter the contest.

Robert Esnault Pelterie is anxious to learn all the conditions that will govern the contest. This young engineer has constructed a monoplane which is most interesting of its type, but he admits he would be unable to make the distance between New York and Albany in a single flight. He believes that the victory will go to a dirigible balloon.

Henry Kapferer, the pilot of the celebrated dirigible the Ville de Paris, was at the meeting of the aviation committee and was one of the most enthusiastic in his praise of the prize. There is no doubt that he would be a most dangerous competitor for the American entry, but the heavy expense of bringing a great airship like the Ville de Paris to America may prevent him from entering the contest.

Nearly every member of the committee agreed that it is quite possible for the prize to be won on the terms laid down for the race. The hope was freely expressed that the offer would be kept open indefinitely if the prize is not won next October.

BARBER IN ROMEO'S ROLE AND NOT THAT OF RAFFLES

Convinces Judge That He Was Calling on a Servant When Chased From Home.

William Zigman, a barber at 1119 Salisbury street said that he was playing the role of Romeo and not Raffles in the home of Harvey W. Salmon Jr. at 4412 Forest Park boulevard Sunday night when he was arraigned on the charge of trespassing Wednesday when Judge Tracy discharged him.

The barber was arrested at his shop Monday on complaint of Salmon, who told the police that he chased Zigman from his house about midnight. Salmon, who is the son of Maj. Harvey W. Salmon, the Clinton banker whose case was reversed by the Supreme Court Tuesday, thought Zigman was a burglar and ran after him with a revolver, but did not shoot.

Zigman said that he had been calling upon Theresa Freund, a servant in the Salmon home.

FEDERAL GRAND JURY QUESTIONS NORMAN E. MACK

Democratic National Chairman a Witness in Libel Action Against World.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—The Federal grand jury, which is conducting the inquiry into the allegations of libel made by the United States Government against the Press Publishing Co. (New York World), and others, resumed its taking of testimony by calling as the first witness of the day Norman E. Mack, publisher of the Buffalo Times, and Chairman of the National Democratic Committee. It is in the latter capacity that the grand jury summoned Mr. Mack. Before going into the grand jury room the Democratic national chairman had a conference with De Lancey Nicoll, who, with John D. Lindsay, is counsel for The World in the present proceedings.

Waiting to be called as witnesses when Mr. Mack was summoned before the grand jury were George Carteret, city editor of The World; John Spurgeon, night city editor of The World; J. L. Frazee, a World reporter, and William P. Dempsey and Thomas Cochran of The World mailing room.

Mr. Mack was in the grand jury room half an hour, at the end of which time he was excused for the day and left the building. J. Angue Shaw, secretary of the Press Publishing Co., was the next witness called. He was with the grand jury for 40 minutes. He was excused and then the jurymen called Mr. Carteret. He was in the jury room about the same length of time as Mr. Shaw, and at the conclusion of his examination the night city editor was brought into the room. Mr. Spurgeon was with the jury less than a quarter of an hour, and was excused just before J. L. Frazee, one of The World reporters, was called.

Mr. Frazee was excused at the end of 30 minutes and James McKernan, circulation manager of The World, was called. At the conclusion of his examination the grand jury adjourned.

The examination of Mr. Shaw, Mr. Carteret and Mr. Spurgeon was not completed and they were told to come back next Tuesday. Later Assistant United States District Attorney Wise said that while the Federal grand jury would meet today as usual, it would not take up the Panama matter again for several days.

MRS. STIRLING ADMITS LOVE FOR LORD NORTHLAND

But Denies Charges of Misconduct and Says She Never Confessed.

CRIES ON THE STAND

Breaks Down as She Describes Quarrels With Her Husband.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.
Copyright, 1909, by the Press Pub. Co. (New York World.)

EDINBURGH, Scotland, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Stirling occupied the witness stand during the entire session yesterday and she was a pathetic figure. More than once she completely broke down while narrating her domestic troubles. At one point she let her head drop upon the table in front of her and for some time kept it buried in her muff and hands. When she raised her head tears were streaming down her cheeks.

By the aid of a glass of water and a liberal use of smelling salts she eventually became calmer, and then she told how, on her return to Cheshire street, her husband accused her of wrecking his whole life and said that although she could stay in the same house with him if she liked, he did not want to live with her; she might be a sort of upper housekeeper. As an alternative, if she left he was willing to settle $3000 a year on her.

Made Fun of Her Grief.

Another scene occurred when Mrs. Stirling appealed to the Court against her brother-in-law, Douglas Stirling.

"I don't see, My Lord," she said, weeping, "why he should sit over there and make fun of my grief."

The Judge sympathetically advised her to direct her attention to counsel's question, and eventually, on advice of friends, Douglas left the courtroom.

Mrs. Stirling denied that she had promised to give a confession to an attorney for Mr. Stirling, who talked with her after her return from America in August of last year.

"There is nothing to confess," she declared, "and the word confession never was used."

Continuing, she said that the statement made by Mrs. Atherton last week that she had purchased a revolver and declared she would shoot Lord Northland unless he married her was a fabrication. She admitted having purchased a pistol last September, after she had left her husband and was so thoroughly miserable that she contemplated taking her own life.

Defends Her Conduct.

The general purport of Mrs. Stirling's evidence was that there was a conspiracy to throw her and Lord Northland together. Denying that she ever had had any improper relations with Northland, she added:

"If I was guilty of misconduct, no one could blame me, because if ever a woman was thrown at a man's head, I was thrown at Lord Northland's."

On cross-examination Mrs. Stirling admitted driving and dining alone with Lord Northland. She said this was due in a measure to her love for him, but largely out of pique aroused by the neglect of her husband.

GOVERNOR VETOES BILL TO PROHIBIT LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Tennessee Executive Tells Lawmakers They Might as Well Legislate Against Crops.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 3.—Gov. Patterson today vetoed the bill prohibiting the manufacture of intoxicating liquors in Tennessee after Jan. 1, 1910. The veto says:

"If this Legislature shall destroy all the distilleries and breweries, why cannot it next forbid the raising or selling of the grains or cultivation of the grapes out of which liquors are made?

"Shall this or some future Legislature prevent the farmer from raising or selling tobacco or the manufacturer from placing it on the market? If we are thus started, where shall we end? It is better not to make the start.

"I veto this measure.

"First—Because it ruthlessly deprives the State of revenue without any sort of corresponding benefit.

"Second—It discriminates against our own people in favor of the people of other states.

"Third—It destroys the property of the citizen without compensation.

"Fourth—It makes a dangerous precedent, humiliates Tennessee and lowers the place of dignity she has occupied as one of the proudest and most conservative states of the Union.

"Fifth—It violates the will of the people twice expressed at the ballot-box; offends against their sense of justice and under the plea of civic righteousness, sacrifices a great moral principle of government at the very altar where it should be guarded and defended."

It is a foregone conclusion that the bill will be passed over the Governor's veto.

Enjoy Your Meals

By Simply Eating a Little Pleasant Tablet After Each of Them.

A TABLET DIGESTS A MEAL.

When digestion is perfect the fluids necessary to this process come naturally to the aid of the stomach. They are of right proportion and do their work speedily and well. When indigestion and dyspepsia are prevalent, these same juices come slowly if at all, are weak and insufficient or are filled with strong acids and alkalies.

When such a condition exists each meal is a hardship upon the digestive organs. The meal should strengthen the juices, but on the contrary it weakens them, so that man by the very act of eating causes conditions to arise which of themselves bring him pain and loathing for the next meal.

By eating one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets you mix the tablet with your saliva and it goes into your stomach a strong, vigorous fluid, many times more powerful than the natural digestive juices. These tablets are made up from natural vegetable and fruit essences and are composed from Hydrastis, Golden Seal, Lactose, Nux, Ascetic Pepsin, Bismuth and Jamaica Ginger. There is the formula, and one grain of it will digest 3,000 grains of food in any stomach. Beside digesting the food it will give the blood the power to enrich the digestive fluids so after a time nature will take care of itself. Though you have no stomach trouble one of these tablets after each meal is a powerful assistance to nature and is an excellent habit to make.

Go to any druggist and ask his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. We will abide his answer if he be an honest man. They sell for 50c per package. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

If your plan will "hold water" a Post-Dispatch business opportunity ad will find the man to finance it.

SUNNY KARL IS GLOOMY SINCE DOGS BIT HIM

Workman's Wife Says Whole Temperament Was Changed by His Injuries.

That the bites inflicted on him by four vicious dogs completely reversed her husband's disposition and temperament is the contention of Mrs. Augusta Gloeckner of 1540 South Eighth street. Before he was bitten by the dogs, Karl Glockner, according to his wife, was a "lustige mann," or happy fellow, and was good company at home, a good workman and family provider and had many friends who delighted to associate with him.

But how different now.

One evening last July Gloeckner, who is a tailor, was returning blithely from his work to his home, taking a short cut up an alley when, without warning, four dogs ran out of a yard and attacked him.

Is Painfully Injured.

He fought them off as well as he could, but before help reached him he was bitten on both legs, the flesh being torn horribly.

He was carried into a bank and a doctor summoned, who hastily cauterized the wounds and hurried him to the City Hospital.

For weeks Gloeckner lay very ill, and returned home with the wounds on his legs not quite healed.

His wife regarded him with astonishment. He was an utterly changed man. He shrunk away from her, and would not answer her when she spoke to him.

"It nearly broke my heart when I saw him; he was such a wreck," said Mrs. Gloeckner to a reporter for the Post-Dispatch. "Before he was attacked by the dogs he was such a merry fellow, always laughing and singing around the house. There was no one so joyful all the time as he.

Merry Smiles All Gone.

"After he came home he went around the house with downcast head, and with never a smile or a word for anyone. He could not eat very much, and he slept little, when he had such a fine appetite for the good things I cooked for him, and slept all night like a baby, and was up singing and ready for his work early every morning.

"But now he is morose and melancholy. He sits by himself and broods all the time he is at home, and I am told that he does his work silently, and never sings or whistles any more, or speaks to his friends in the shop. His whole nature is utterly changed.

Sues Owner for $10,000.

"He doesn't complain or seem afraid of the future. Of course, he is still sick and suffering from his terrible experience with the dogs. But it is the change in his disposition that is the strange part of it all. It seems as though the poison from the fangs of the savage dogs had worked some strange spell on him. I am not an educated woman, and cannot understand these things, but I do know that when those dogs attacked Karl they robbed me of my good, kind, merry husband, and gave me back a sad, morose, silent and uncompanionable man."

Mrs. Gloeckner has brought suit for $10,000 in the Circuit Court against John P. Collins, an undertaker at 517 Walnut street, back of whose premises her husband was bitten, and who, she says, is the owner of the dogs.

FRANCIS-GOLTRA WING WANTS TO RUN H. N. DAVIS

Practical Members of Democratic City Committee Prefer Crunden for Mayor.

Horatio N. Davis, former City Councilman, is the mayoralty candidate of the Francis-Goltra wing of the Democratic party. The committee headed by John F. Lee, an attorney, is urging the Democratic City Committee to accept Mr. Davis.

The practical members of the City Committee are opposed to Mr. Davis on the ground that he is too closely identified with the financial and business interests controlling the public utility corporations. They are inclined to favor Councilman Crunden for the mayoralty nomination, but the "interests" oppose Mr. Crunden because he is too independent and too much of a municipal ownership advocate.

Mr. Davis is president of the Smith-Davis Manufacturing Co. and a director of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co. Julius S. Walsh, who is at the head of the trust company, is also at the head of the Terminal Association, and Mr. Walsh and other directors in the trust company are also largely interested in the public utility corporations.

Mr. Crunden's champions say that he has successfully fought the trusts by manufacturing for himself goods that he could buy only from the trusts, and that he has fought in the Council to compel the railroads and other public service corporations to give the city a "square deal."

The Goltra-Francis wing of the party has promised to finance the campaign if the City Committee nominates a ticket of clean candidates. Some of the practical men interested in the campaign say that they will not have a ticket too closely identified with the "interests," and that if the citizens' committee attempts to force such a ticket upon the committee there will be a break.

IF IT DISAPPEARS, IT'S ECZEMA

How to Tell Whether a Skin Affection Is an Inherited Blood Disease or Not.

Sometimes it is hard to determine whether a skin affection is a sign of a blood disorder or simply a form of eczema. Even physicians are often puzzled in their diagnosis. The best way for anyone afflicted is to go to the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Raboteau & Co., or any good druggist who handles pure drugs and obtain 50 cents' worth of poslam. Apply this, and if the itching stops at once and the trouble is cured in a few days it may be set down as having been eczema, as this is the way poslam acts in the worst cases of eczema, and in curing acne, herpes, blotches, tetter, piles, salt rheum, rash, barber's and other forms of itch, scaly scalp and all surface skin affections.

Those who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York, can secure, by mail free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion overnight and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

450 MISSOURI HARDWARE MEN IN CONVENTION

Retail Merchants of State Meet in St. Louis to Discuss Trade Matters.

Resolutions condemning the parcels post will be considered at the twelfth annual convention of the Missouri Retail Hardware Association, which began its sessions Wednesday morning in the old Ely-Walker Building, Eighth street and Washington avenue. Members say the convention will pass the resolution unanimously.

Retail dealers' organizations in all parts of the United States are on record in opposition to the parcels post, the retail merchants holding it would place the entire trade of the country within reach of mail order houses to the great damage of the business of the smaller dealers.

The convention will hear an address Thursday afternoon by W. K. Kavanaugh on "Deep Waterways" and, members say, will endorse the project. Leo Fessler will deliver an address, illustrated with stereoptican views, on "Planting and Replanting," Thursday evening.

The convention utilizes two floors of the building, the first floor being devoted to a display of hardware. The convention meets on the second floor. The association has 450 members and it is expected almost the entire membership will be present by Wednesday evening.

HER SWEETHEART WED TO ANOTHER, GIRL KILLS SELF

Rosie Dangelo, Aged 17, Seeks Death After He Failed to Avenge Her.

SAYS NERVE FAILED HIM

Bridegroom Was to Wreak Vengeance on Former Mysterious Suitor.

A tangled story of love and the vendetta was revealed Wednesday when investigation was begun into the death by her own hand of dark-eyed Rosie Dangelo, 17 years old. She shot herself Tuesday night at her home, 813 Morgan street, after she had lost a sweetheart, who was afraid, according to his own statement, to carry out an oath of revenge against a former admirer of Rosie.

Joseph Bentivino of 821 North Eighth street, arrested after the girl's death, told a police sergeant of the Carr Street Station a remarkable love story. He said that before he became attentive to Rosie she was engaged to be married to another young man, whose name was Sam, but whose last name, he said, he could not remember. This engagement was broken, Bentenino said, after a quarrel with the girl's father.

Rosie's father is Joseph Dangelo. Bentevino said the quarrel was so bitter that "Sam" and the father came to blows and that either Sam or one of his friends fired at the father.

Gave Father $25.

After that, Bentevino became attentive to the girl, and he says he paid her father $25 when they became engaged, in accordance with custom. The father demanded that he should revenge the family on the former suitor, and Bentevino says he promised to do this. But as time went on he lost courage, he says, and decided he'd rather give Rosie up than undertake fulfilment of the vendetta. He says he quit calling at the Dangelo home several months ago. Last Sunday he was married to another girl.

The investigation into the death was taken up at the request of Dr. A. G. Herman, who was called after the girl shot herself. The bullet entered under her right jaw. In what the physician thought a peculiar position for a self-inflicted wound, and he suspected that someone else fired the shot. The police say they are satisfied that Rosie committed suicide.

Bentevino was released after telling his story, but he will be a witness at the inquest.

When Joseph Dangelo was asked about Bentevino's story he denied that he knew either "Sam" or Bentevino. The smaller sisters of Rosie also denied that they knew Bentevino, but the police assert that he was for some time a regular visitor at the Dangelo home.

BROKERAGE FIRM TO RETIRE; RUMOR OF "SMASH" DENIED

Lawyer Says Shortage of Walker & Co.'s Employe Is Unimportant.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The prospective retirement from business of another large brokerage firm—Walker & Co. of New York and Chicago—was announced today. As it followed so closely upon the winding up of the firm of Sidney C. Love & Co., rumors of a "smash" were circulated, but were promptly denied today. M. H. Whitney of counsel for Walker & Co. stated that E. C. Walker, who really constitutes the firm, had concluded to wind up the business in order to enjoy a trip to Europe. He has sold his membership in the New York Stock Exchange for $75,000.

"Mr. Walker originally intended to retire June 1, but the loss of a trusted employe, whose place it would be difficult to fill, caused him to advance the date of retirement to March 1," said Mr. Whitney. "Upon his return from Europe, Mr. Walker will resume business. A shortage of $3500 in the accounts of a trusted employe has been discovered, and it may run as high as $7000, but that has nothing to do with Mr. Walker's decision to retire from business for the time being."

M'KINLEY APPOINTED REGENT OF KIRKSVILLE STATE NORMAL

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—Gov. Hadley today appointed John C. McKinley, who until yesterday was Lieutenant-Governor, a member of the Board of Regents of the Kirksville State Normal School. It was at this school that Mr. McKinley received his higher education. His first year's schooling he paid for by doing janitor work in the building at the rate of $1.50 a week.

The Governor also appointed the following members of the Board of Managers of the Fulton Insane Asylum for terms ending Feb. 1, 1913: Dr. E. B. Clements of Macon, Samuel T. Sharp of Montgomery City, Robert B. Buckner of Auxvasse.

MILLIONAIRE WEDS GIRL HE LOST 30 YEARS AGO

Beekman's Mother Prevented Match Then, But He Returns From World Wanderings to Re-Win Miss Adams.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—A love story that would delight the heart of a novelist ended and began again at 170 West Seventy-third street last Wednesday evening, when Harry M. T. Beekman of the old Knickerbocker family of that name, was wedded to Bessie Haynes Adams, the girl he wanted to marry 30 years ago.

Beekman, who has been for some years a silent partner of the law firm of which Col. William Jay is at the head, is one of the wealthiest men in New York. He has a place in Venice, a residence in London, golf links in Scotland and a country home at Bernardsville, N. J.

But according to the statements his friends made last night he would never have bought so much as a shingle in foreign parts except for the fact that when he was 20 years younger he wooed and won and then lost Miss Adams in New York. The wedding, performed in Miss Adams' apartments last Wednesday, was practically settled at the time Beekman quit Rutgers College as president and valedictorian of his class. On its very eve, according to reports, his mother set herself to break off the match and succeeded so far as to take her son out of the country and carry him off on a long European voyage which lasted until he was unable to reconcile himself with Miss Adams.

This blighting of his romance is said to have made a temporary misanthrope out of Beekman. For years afterward he toured Europe aimlessly, then settled in Paris, came back to New York, became again a rover, and finally settled down to the law in Paris as a silent member of Col. Jay's law firm, just about the time the famous Fair will case came up.

It is said that the brilliant line of evidence produced by Beekman cost Charles Fair's sister, Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, several millions, because it proved that Fair was first killed in the frightful auto accident in France that sent both to almost simultaneous death. The great fortune involved went chiefly to the other side.

For this achievement Beekman is supposed to have received a fee of a million and a quarter francs. Then he came back to New York, established offices here again, and, searching out Miss Adams, sought her again in marriage. Although he is 55 now, and she is about 50, he found her still constant to the pledge she had made him in early life.

Friends made the renewed proposal easier, and the Rev. Dr. W. F. Hughes performed the ceremony at the residence of her brother, Louis Bartholomew Adams. The couple left for a honeymoon in France.

Keep Those Little Soldiers Healthy and Strong

—Those little soldiers in your blood, known to scientists as white corpuscles, whose important duty is to defend you against disease germs that attack the red corpuscles and the bodily tissues.

You are helpless unless they are in condition to fight for you. This fact is fully established.

Nothing is more important than to make and keep them healthy and strong, especially when there is exposure to such diseases as the grip, typhoid fever, spotted fever, smallpox, scarlet fever, diphtheria, cholera, malaria, tuberculosis or consumption;—and when is there not more or less exposure to such diseases?

How shall you know whether they are healthy and strong?—

By your looks and feelings.

Eruptions, scrofula, eczema, catarrh, rheumatism, anemia, languor, that tired feeling, loss of appetite, nervousness, general debility, are all indications that the little soldiers in your blood are not in condition to fight for you.

They are just as surely indications that you should begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla at once—the medicine whose great distinction is that it makes and keeps the blood of the right quality and quantity.

And you should take it faithfully, according to the directions.

"By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla my blood has been purified, my strength has been built up, and with the general improvement in health, my nerves are steady and under good control. I would not be placed back where I was before I began taking this medicine for $500." ARTHUR F. WILSON, 1 Perkins St., Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Hood's Sarsaparilla effects its wonderful cures, not simply because it contains sarsaparilla, but because it combines the utmost remedial values of more than 20 different ingredients, each greatly strengthened and enriched by this peculiar combination. These ingredients are the very remedies that successful physicians prescribe for the same diseases and ailments. There is no real substitute for Hood's Sarsaparilla. If urged to buy any preparation said to be "just as good," you may be sure it is inferior, costs less to make, and yields the dealer a larger profit.

Begin taking Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Get it in the usual liquid form or in chocolated tablets known as Sarsatabs. 100 Doses One Dollar.

Merry Widows Will Taboo Mysterious Ways in Their Search for Happiness

Organizer Tells Marguerite Martyn Club Will Be Open and Above Board.

WILL DICTATE TERMS

Bachelors and Widowers Must Submit to Capture if Members So Will.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN.

IT is apparent that there is a large void in society to be filled with a club or association for widows. The "Merry Widows" was an organization limited to 50 members until its movements were disclosed recently by the Post-Dispatch.

Now there is such a scramble for membership that Mrs. Jessie Gabler and Mrs. Fannie Minette Lane, the prime organizers of the society, threaten to retreat under the deluge of correspondence regarding it.

More than 500 letters, inquiries, messages of approval or felicitation and other significatives of interest in the purpose of this club have been received within the last week.

"Our club is unique in this respect, that we acknowledge inconsistency to be the besetting fault of femininity, and seek to do away with it," explained Mrs. Lane. "We are absolutely frank in our purpose and attitude toward cheering and enlivening the state of widowhood.

"Culture, good-fellowship, entertainment of an uplifting character, mutual benefit, intellectually, artistically or mere relaxation, are the chief aims of our club, and in case we find happiness incomplete without the complete annihilation of the state of widowhood, we shall not disdain to employ the arts and wiles we have acquired by dear experience. You cannot call these dark, mysterious designs.

Every Member Will Be Open and Above Board

WE hope to remove that stigma which has attached to the mere name of widow by being open and above board, true to our instincts, with no pretensions, which are really nothing but inconsistencies.

"Initiative as rare as consistency itself was required to launch the "Merry Widows." Mrs. Gabler provided the genuine and the courage of her convictions. And now that she has started the ball rolling, there is another obstacle to be overcome.

"Women are so much more complex than men, so full of endless resources. We must acquire single-mindedness and conduct the club on the lines of a man's club, for without concerted action we cannot hope for success. This result being accomplished, we can do much for the alleviation of the hitherto forlorn state of widowhood."

If only they can rid themselves of the faults of inconsistency and complexity, what reforms may we not expect? And it looks as if a strong effort were working in that direction.

Bachelor, widower, you may as well [illegible] the concerted action of a company [illegible] women already victorious in fields [illegible]. Maybe you have either been vanquished [illegible] are inexperienced, as an army invincible. If you resist capture it will avail you nothing; if you would be a willing ally you will have to wait until you are chosen. Your fate will rest merely upon their decision as to whether their happiness is complete without you.

Bachelors, Spinsters and Widowers Are Overruled

IT seems to me the responsibility as to whether or not you shall continue in your state of solitary grandeur or insufferable loneliness has been removed beyond your reach.

And spinsters, too—their wishes have been disregarded in the widows' plans. Leftovers are their portion, since they cannot expect to compete with experience.

I was forced to feign a bereavement in order to gain admittance to Mrs. Gabler's cozy Maple avenue flat, and then afterward to promise to treat in all seriousness and consideration their enterprise, receiving no information regarding it at all.

The condition of widowhood is most pitiable and forlorn, according to Mrs. Gabler's mental picture of it. Her eyes are deep wells of sympathy, and dimples and coquetry return to her lips only when she talks of the plans of her club. She has a soulful temperament, which is visible upon the surface. She writes love songs and sings them, too, and even her thoughts, it would seem, are set to music.

"Tragedies are revealed in many of the letters which have come to us," she said. "It is so easy for a woman to give herself up to a great grief and neglect her person, her house and her children. When a vision appears of such a shipwrecked life, with an arm reaching out for any sort of fragment to keep it afloat, something should be done to rescue that woman.

We have had such glimpses. Others long for a revief to pent-up feelings, but there is a minor chord to be heard even in the gayest of them. Something should be done to benefit these people. That there is a crying need for just such an organization as ours is evident from the attention in remote parts of the country.

Clubhouse Tendered By Sympathetic Rich Woman

WE HAVE received offers of financial aid. One woman of wealth tendered a clubhouse in a fashionable part of the city, and our scheme has been imitated in Memphis, Tenn., and at Lyons, Kan. Our club will succeed where others have failed, because of our frank attitude in our purpose to drive away dull care. It is founded upon the solid principle of consistency.

"At least we shall not come to such ignominous grief as did a widow's club of Chicago when its president, after denouncing mankind as head hunters, roving the street with an eye single to conquest and unfit in the present stage of his mental development to associate with the higher type of womanhood, resigned and married one of the horrid men.

"But while we are free in confessing our desire to improve the existing state of widowhood, it is by no means to be inferred that the Merry Widows are a matrimonial promulgator. It has been my experience that, conditions being right, matrimony will take care of itself."

Mrs. Gabler has been twice married.

I asked what the conditions for membership are, but I was not eligible to know. I was informed only in so far as to make me suspect that it would be worth while to brave widowhood in order to profit by the mutual benefits of the Merry Widows.

For Weak Kidneys

The formula here given has the endorsement of high medical authority as being one that will produce quicker and more permanent results than any other combination for the restoration of the kidneys to their normal functions.

It will speedily relieve backache, rheumatic pains, frequent and highly colored urination, general debility, etc.

The formula is as follows: "Half ounce fluid extract Buchu; half ounce Murax compound; good pure gin, six ounces; shake the bottle well each time and use in doses of one or two teaspoonfuls after each meal."

Any good druggist will put up this prescription or it can be mixed at home.

The kidneys are sponge-like organs and act as filters to strain the waste matter and uric acid from the blood. If these filters become clogged the poison remains in the blood and disastrous results follow quickly. Bright's disease, chronic rheumatism and diabetes are caused directly from inactive kidneys. * * *

Important to All Women Readers of This Paper.

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they will cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer a great deal with pain in the back, bearing-down feelings, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes anyone so.

But thousands of irritable, nervous, tired and broken-down women have restored their health and strength by the use of Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

Swamp-Root brings new life and activity to the kidneys, the cause of such troubles.

HADLEY WOULD INCREASE FINE OR OUST TRUST

Insists on Rigid State Supervision of Oil if Leniency Is Shown.

WILL NOT RISK SUPPLY

Governor Thinks Consumers' Interests Are Foremost, Those of Trust Incidental.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 3.—Attorney-General Major today filed in the Supreme Court a suggestion that the State be allowed to be represented, either in oral arguments or by filing a brief, if the Court decides to have a hearing on the motion filed yesterday by the Standard Oil Co. of Indiana.

The document does not reveal the exact stand to be taken by the State, but it is thought that the Attorney-General will endeavor to have enforced the points agreed upon in last night's conference on the case at the Executive Mansion. These points, in brief, are:

First—that there must be an increase in the fines levied against the company and its subsidiaries if the Court is disposed to modify the decree of ouster, and,

Second—There must be some provision for effective supervision of the oil business by the State, whether along the lines suggested by the companies or otherwise.

Can Only Make Suggestions.

"We are in this situation," the Attorney-General said after the conference. "The child has been found guilty of a serious offense. The parent as represented by the Supreme Court is about to administer punishment. It is not up to us to enter any plea on behalf of the offender. But if the punishing power sees fit to hear his plea for clemency suggestions by us might then be proper.

"In an ordinary case the defendant would attack the law and then we would have to file briefs and fight it out on that ground. In this case there is only an appeal for mercy. Nothing is said about the fine because the company is perfectly willing to pay the fine if it can escape the more severe punishment.

"It now becomes a question which must be dealt with from but one standpoint and that is the interest of the people of the State. It may be that driving the Standard out of Missouri would interfere with our people getting the oil and in that case it may be better to let a Missouri corporation transact the business of selling oil with the plants and equipment now in use and under the supervision of the State. Our policy will be to regard the public interest. The interest of the trust is wholly incidental."

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., of New York, Issues Statement of Its Standing End of Past Year.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of New York has issued a statement of its standings at the end of the past year, and the magnitude of the business transacted can hardly be comprehended by its many thousands of policy holders.

The statement shows that the company still carries more policies and distributes more benefits than any other institution of its kind in the country. The total amount of the outstanding policies at the end of 1908 amounted to $1,861,890,803, and the no less astounding fact that during the business hours of every day an average of 6343 new policies were issued and paid for.

Every day, averaging for the year, 441 persons received the full value in case of policies which were carried for their benefit from the company.

Statistics show that a policy holder dies every six minutes, and during business hours the company pays a claim on an average of every 62 seconds. Nearly $100,000,000 of United States bonds, city bonds and railroad stocks and bonds; more than $90,000,000 of bonds and mortgages; more than $22,000,000 of real estate and other tangible property is owned by the company, all held available for the payment of its obligations.

The exact number of policies carried by the company is 9,960,106, and were all the holders gotten together they would constitute a population greater than the 12 largest cities in the Union.

TOO WEAK TO WORK

Suffered From Stomach Trouble and General Debility. Mrs. Minor Was Weak, Sick, Discouraged.

RESTORED TO HEALTH BY VINOL

"Last January I was all run down in health and so weak that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I was very umch discouraged with my condition, as I was receiving no benefit whatever from the medicine I had taken. Finally, on the recommendation of my druggist, I decided to try the cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol. In a short time I felt better, and after taking five bottles, my health was fully restored. I have suffered from stomach trouble for years, but since taking Vinol this trouble has entirely disappeared, and I now eat better, sleep better and am better than I have been for a long time. Vinol certainly worked wonders in my case, and I heartily recommend it to any one in need of such a medicine." Mrs. Harvey L. Minor, Canal Dover, Ohio.

With such evidence of the power of Vinol to restore strength and vitality to all weak and sickly persons, do you wonder that we do not fear to say Try Vinol. If it fails to benefit we will return your money. That's your guarantee. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., cor. 6th and Washington Av., St. Louis.

For you, when you need it. But the longer you neglect Indigestion, the more you will suffer before Kodol can restore Good Digestion.

And, of course, indigestion if neglected long enough, brings on serious diseases in which Kodol cannot benefit you. Some of these there is no help for at all.

There are, in fact, very few ailments which cannot be traced directly to impure blood. And impure blood is always due to a disordered stomach.

Use Kodol and prevent Nervous Dyspepsia.

Kodol will effectually assist Nature to secure a complete restoration of good digestion. It does this by at once digesting all food in the stomach and keeping it digested, until the stomach is rested and can resume its own work. Kodol removes the cause—and the effect quickly removes itself.

When it is recalled that Apoplexy, Heart Disease, Cancer—and even Consumption—are due to poor digestion and poisons thus transmitted to the blood, and throughout the system—the importance of maintaining good digestion is at once realized.

We knew what Kodol would do before ever the first bottle was sold. If we did not know just what it will do, we would not guarantee it the way we do.

It is easy for you to prove Kodol—the next (or the first) time you have an attack of indigestion. And you will certainly be surprised at the results. It is perfectly harmless.

There can be no harm in trying something that may do you a great deal of good—when it costs you nothing if it doesn't.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say, that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money without question or delay. We will then pay the druggist for the bottle. Don't hesitate, all druggists know that our guarantee is good. This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family. The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

Flatulence

When every bite you eat seems to turn to gas and your stomach and intestines cause you endless discomfort, it is an unfailing sign that your entire system needs a thorough housecleaning.

"The Newlyweds and Their Baby" Comes Then to Manager Fischell's House.

CARTOON PLAY SUCCESS

Henry Miller in "The Great Divide" at Century—Other New Offerings.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed, the most popular young married couple in America, and their famous baby, Napoleon, will celebrate their fourth anniversary when, next Sunday, they begin their engagement in St. Louis, the birthplace of clever George McManus, the cartoonist who created them.

Four years ago the first of the Newlywed cartoons appeared in the Post-Dispatch and the New York World, attaining instant popularity, and since that time they have become the most successful cartoon series known in all history. Though just plain Americans of moderate income, the Newlyweds have had a most distinguished career, including a brilliant reception at two foreign courts, and have delighted millions with the wholesome humor of George McManus' imagining. Little Napoleon is an especial favorite and is now a household idol in thousands of homes.

The great popularity of the cartoons appealed to Leffler & Bratton, a big musical comedy producing firm of New York City, and they arranged with Mr. McManus for a stage production of "The Newlyweds and Their Baby." Aaron Hoffman and Paul West, well-known writers of musical comedy, were engaged to write the score and book, and it was at their suggestion that James E. Rosen, the famous Lilliputian actor, was selected to play the role of little Napoleon. Miss Ruby Ray, England's most celebrated comedienne, dancer and singer, was placed under contract for the part of Mrs. Newlywed, and William Clifton was chosen to play Mr. Newlywed, the fond young father and husband. The play in which they will be seen at the Garrick is full of the brightest fun and most tuneful music, and will be presented by a big company numbering 60¼ persons, little Comedien Rosen being classed as the half.

There will be a special Lincoln's Birthday matinee on Friday afternoon, when Mr. Rosen, as Napoleon Newlywed, will give a grand stage reception to all children attending the performance. He will be assisted by his playmate, the big Black Bear, in the person of Alfred Grady, the animal actor, and by William Clifton and Ruby Ray, as Mr. and Mrs. Newlywed; his doting parents. Souvenirs appropriate to the occasion will be given to all children present.

"The Isle of Spice" is this week's bill.

Henry Miller, in "The Great Divide," which scored such a pronounced St. Louis success on the occasion of its first visit last season, comes to the Century for the week beginning next Sunday evening. His supporting company is the same, with one exception, that appeared in the play during its run of one year and a half at Daly's Theater in New York City. Mr. Miller finds in Stephen Ghent the most congenial role of his entire career, and is at his best in that powerful portrayal.

"A Knight for a Day" is this week's Century offering.

The Olympic Theater has scored the most pronounced hit of its present season with "The Round-Up," the play of Arizona life first seen here last Sunday night. The house has been sold out at every performance, and the great third act sets its audiences wild with enthusiasm. It is in this act that the beautiful stage picture of a band of mounted Indians filing slowly down from the mountain peaks to the valley below is shown, and the act closes with the splendid spectacle of a battle between Apaches and a troop of United States cavalrymen. "The Round-Up" begins its second week Sunday night, and Wednesday and Saturday matinees will be given.

John E. Young, who became such a St. Louis favorite as leading comedian at Delmar Garden, heads the company beginning a week's engagement in "The Time, the Place and the Girl" at the Grand next Sunday matinee, appearing as Happy Johnnie Hicks, a master of epigrammatic slang The play is already popular in St. Louis, and has scored notable New York, Chicago and Boston successes. It is rich in comedy, has many catchy songs, and will be presented by an excellent company.

"Coming Thro' the Rye" is this week's Grand attraction.

Bob Hendricks in "Yon Yonsen" comes to the Imperial for the week beginning with next Sunday's matinee. He is a natural comedian who gets his laughs without resorting to buffoonery, and the play itself is said to be sparkling with humor.

The Smart Set in "The Black Politician" is the present offering.

"Convict 999," an exciting melodrama, begins a week's engagement at Havlin's next Sunday afternoon. It tells a thrilling story, relieved by good comedy, and one of its big scenes shows the annual ball in the Eighth Regiment Armory in New York City.

Jack Dorris, the jail breaker, in "From Sing Sing to Liberty," is now at Havlin's.

"A Night at the Circus," this season's biggest acrobatic offering in vaudeville, will be the headline attraction at the American next week, featuring Nat Ellis and Ella Nowlan. Other features are Eva Taylor and company, in "Chums;" Lew Hawkins, individual entertainer; Harry Klein and Pearl Clifton, in "The Dummy's Holiday;" McPhee and Hill, aerial artists; the Three Weston Sisters, musical girls, and Clever Conkey and the Majestic Trio.

Bessie Wynn, singing comedienne, and Ben Welch, Hebrew and Italian impersonator, head this week's bill. The Oppenheimers are making special preparations to celebrate "Anniversary Night," Feb. 17, when the American Theater will be one year old. There will be appropriate ceremonies and a reception.

Lillian Mortimer and her company, in her own one-act play, "Poor White Trash Jinny," will be the topline feature of the New Columbia's bill next week. Other features are May and Flora Hengler, in a musical comedy offering; the Millman Trio, acrobats, with Miss Bird Millman, direct from Europe; the Swor Brothers, comedians and singers; Miss Billie Blackburn, assisted by Alva Blackburn, in Southern character studies; Ollie Young and brothers, diabolo players and hoop rollers; Davie and Moore, in "The Dancing Tenderheel," and Seymour and Dupre.

Leo Ditrichstein in "Button, Button, Who's Got the Button," and Gennaro's Band are this week's topliners.

Pat White and his Gaiety Girls come to the Standard for the week beginning next Sunday afternoon. They will present his burlesque, "Doings in Mudville," the musical athletic novelty, "The Night of the Fight," an entertaining vaudeville bill, and, as a special feature, Callente, in her famous dances.

The Frolicsome Lambs are this week's offering.

Andy Lewis and his Mardi Gras Beauties begin a week's engagement at the Gayety with Sunday's matinee. Two bright musical comedies will be presented. Andy Lewis will appear in a racetrack sketch entitled "Won at the Wire," and a clever vaudeville bill will be offered.

Rose Sydell's company is at the Gayety this week.

BABY LIES AMONG PIES ON WAY TO THE HOSPITAL

Sweetmeats Wagon From Which He Fell Takes Him to the Doctor.

A pie wagon was an ambulance for "Baby" Nelson, 5-year-old son of Mrs. O. P. Nelson, proprietor of a restaurant at 1408 South Eighteenth street. "Baby" was riding in the wagon Wednesday when the rear door opened at a rough place in the pavement, and he was thrown out.

His scalp was badly cut, and the driver, John Dotson, put him back in the wagon and whipped up the horse to the City Hospital.

DEMOCRATS AND REPUBLICANS TO KNIFE DELEGATES

Both City Committees Plan Defeat of Almost Entire Membership of House.

ALL DEMOCRATS TO GO

One or Possibly Two Republicans Slated for Renomination by Powers.

The Democratic and Republican city committees have undertaken to clean up the House of Delegates. If the plans of the rival political organizations are carried out not more than two, or possibly one, of the present members of the House will be re-elected.

E. J. Paule, Republican, of the Eleventh Ward, is slated for renomination. The record of Delegate F. W. Tirre, also Republican, of the Fifteenth Ward, is under investigation, to determine whether he should be renominated. He is a member of the House combine and his record has been severely criticised by persons who have had the House of Delegates under surveillance.

The Democratic committee has decided to retire every one of its members, not because some of them have bad records, but because under the exigencies of a delicate situation there is nothing else they can do. Several of the House combine members have decided to try again for renomination and re-election. Gallagher of the Third Ward and Weidmer of the Thirteenth Ward, both want to run. Gallagher has been a member of the combine all along, but Weidmer, who was at the head of the combine in the former House, has been recently let into the existing combine.

Convention for Republicans.

The Republicans will nominate their House of Delegates candidates in a convention composed of delegates from every ward. If the organization succeeds in controling the convention, as now seems probable, it can prevent the renomination of any Republican members of the House whose record condemns them. The Democrats are to nominate their candidates for the House by direct ward primaries, and they are likely to have some trouble.

There is now no indication of a Republican revolt, but it is not certain there will not be. Some members of the committee who revolted two years ago and got control of the convention and nominated a House ticket designated by Chairman Howe as the "worst ever" have been demanding good jobs for themselves in consideration of holding back the undesirable members of the present House.

Unless these men get what they want they may undertake to renominate F. W. Priesmeyer of the First Ward, Bourg of the Sixth Ward, Troll of the Eighth Ward, Sachse, Schell, Simmons and Kollas, whose records do not commend them for return to the House. The Republicans, however, have the situation somewhat better in hand than the Democrats.

A sub-committee of the Democratic City Committee has been conferring with a committee representing business and financial interests relative to candidates for the House of Delegates and municipal officers. M. J. Mulvihill is chairman of the sub-committee. John F. Lee, Edward F. Goltra, R. S. Colnon and William F. Woerner are representing the financial and business interests.

Support for Good Men Only.

The City Committee has been told plainly that it will not be furnished any financial support for its ticket unless its House of Delegates candidates are above suspicion. The members of the City Committee realize that the Democratic candidates will have no chance to win unless they are good men. This situation has been put up to the ward leaders, and they have accepted it.

Fear is expressed on the other hand that a ticket nominated at the dictation of the business and financial interests represented by the citizens' committee will be tainted by "Big Cinch" influence. The Republicans are almost sure to attack the Democratic ticket on this ground if some of the present plans are carried out, with regard to the more important nominations.

City committeemen with whom the Democratic organization anticipated trouble were among the first to volunteer their aid in getting desirable men for the House ticket, but whether they can deliver the goods, if the present House members make a fight for renomination, is a question that is worrying them.

Some members of the Democratic Committee declare that a ticket dominated by the "Big Cinch" would be worse than a ticket composed of members of the House combine. Negotiations between Mr. Lee's committee and Mr. Mulvihill's sub-committee have progressed satisfactory so far, and no break is threatened.

"Down With the Big Cinch."

The Republican campaign slogan is to be "Down With the Big Cinch." The Republican leaders are not expecting great financial support, but say they will appeal to the better class of voters to elect their ticket on its merits. They will be able, according to estimates, to make the campaign on $18,000 and they say they can raise this amount without going to "Big Cinch" people for it.

McKinley System Gets Concession.

A bill authorizing the McKinley system to operate trains of three cars on the streets of St. Louis between 11 p. m. and 5 a. m. and two cars during the day time, has been passed by the City Council.

CORONER WILL INVESTIGATE COLLAPSE OF MALT HOUSE

Inquest to Be Held in Case of Carpenter Who Was Killed.

An inquest was begun Wednesday to inquire into the cause of the collapse of a part of the malt house of the Lafayette Brewery, Eighteenth street and Cass avenue, which caused the death of Christian L. Bopp, a carpenter, of 2618 Cass avenue, who was passing at the time of the collapse and was buried under the falling wall and thousands of bushels of malt and barley.

Bopp's body was dug out of the mass of brick, mortar, malt and grain at 6 p. m. Tuesday, after a score of firemen, policemen and employes of the brewery had been working for nearly an hour.

The wall collapsed without warning. The building was erected about twenty years ago and had been used for a malthouse since that time. Tuesday there was about 25,000 bushels of malt in the bins. Bopp was passing the corner and 10 men were at work in the building, when a section of the wall at the corner, a part on Eighteenth street and a part on Cass avenue, suddenly fell out.

BRAW SCOT TRAMP FLINGS SANDWICH IN MAID'S FACE

Hits Her, Too, and Dances Away Behind His Highland Dialect.

A braw Scot did a Highland fling when the negro cook at Dr. M. C. Marshall's home, 4262 Westminster place, handed him a ham sandwich. He flung the sandwich in her face.

"These are muckle hard times," he remarked in a voice with a Harry Lauder burr, ac Mrs. Marshall answered his ring at the door on the Boyle avenue side of the house. "I'm aboot doon and oot."

"Poor man," murmured the sympathetic woman. "Just go around to the back door and the cook will give you something. O, Lulu," she called to the negress, "give the man a sandwich.

Lulu did so, and an instant later the neatly prepared sandwich struck her between the eyes. Something else also struck her. She says it was the Scotchman's fist, and that one of her teeth was loosened and she was knocked down.

"I'm kilt," she wailed.

"Dinna ye say kilt to me," growled the Scot. "I dinna wear kilts noo." And he strode away like Norval over the Grampian Hills.

DANVILLE WAS TOO SLOW FOR TWO PRETTY RUNAWAY GIRLS

Escape Barefooted From Homes, but Are Arrested by Local Police.

Two pretty girls of good family who ran away from their homes in Danville, Ill., because, as they said: "It was too slow a town for us," are under arrest at the Dayton Police Station in St. Louis. They had been under arrest in Urbana, Ill., and escaped barefooted from a woman officer there.

Gertrude Miller, 15 years old, and Grace Martin, 16 years old, disappeared from their homes in Danville last December. They were arrested in Champaign and were taken to Urbana and sentenced to the Training School for Girls at Geneva, Ill., until they were of age.

While in charge of Mrs. Agnes Frisinger, probation officer, at her home in Urbana, waiting to be taken to the school, they complained one night of being sick. Mrs. Frisinger told them to go to the pantry and get some peppermint. They crawled out the pantry window and, in their night dresses and barefooted, they escaped and made their way to St. Louis. Mrs. Frisinger traced them here through a letter and they were arrested in a rooming house at 2729 Washington avenue.

PURSE GIVEN TO POOR TRAVELER

Passengers at Union Station Raise $20 for George Williamson.

Passengers at Union Station made up a purse of $20 for George Williamson, a penniless passenger on his way from Houston, Tex., to his home in New York with the body of his wife. With him also were his children, a 4-year-old boy and a 5-weeks-old girl.

Eight weeks ago he started to the Texas oil fields. His wife was taken ill in Houston and died a week later.

Sergt. Con Meehan learned of his plight and started the fund for his relief. He departed at 11:30 p. m.

A REASONABLE INDICATION OF THE DESERVED POPULARITY of its plans and of faith in its management may be fairly claimed in the number of Metropolitan policies in force. It is not only greater than that of any other company in America, but greater than that of all the other regular companies combined, less one. It exceeds, in fact, the COMBINED POPULATION of 24 of the States and Territories out of the 52 forming the American Union; and as to CITIES, it exceeds the combined population of Greater New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Cleveland, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, New Orleans and Buffalo.

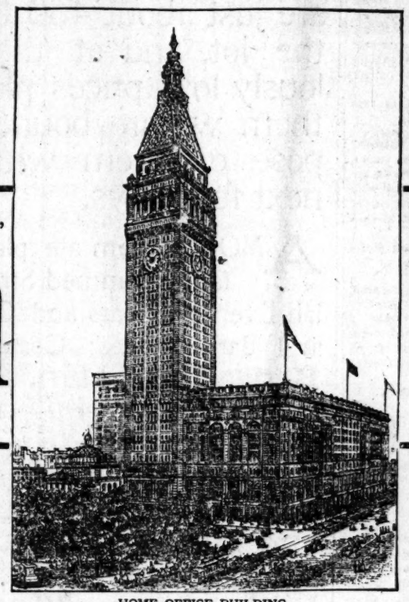

The Metropolitan has more premium paying business in force in the United States than any other company.

The Metropolitan has in force one-third of all the legal reserve policies in force in the United States. Its Industrial policies in force nearly equal in number all the Industrial policies of all the other companies in the country combined.

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $526,939,378

The Company issues policies for from $1,000 to $1,000,000 on individual lives, premiums payable quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

All policies are non-participating. They are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

PREMIUMS ARE LOWER THAN ARE OFFERED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY

In the Intermediate Branch policies are adapted to the working classes. Each policy is for $500 and the rate lower than that offered by the Savings Bank system of Massachusetts. Two of the Metropolitan's Intermediate forms recently standardized by the New York and Massachusetts Departments provide for attractive combinations of insurance and annuities at the lowest rates offered anywhere.

The Ratio of Expense to Premium Income was the Lowest in the Company's History being over 8 per cent. less than five years ago and more than 15 per cent. less than ten years ago

The Company wrote more business in 1908 than any other Company in the world, and this for the fifteenth consecutive year

The number of policies paid in 1908 averaged one for each sixty-five seconds of each business day of 8 hours, and in amount $128.48 a minute, the year through.

The value and timeliness of its policy payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 3,479 were under polices less than three months old, 6,890 were on policies under 6 months, and 12,806 were within the first year of insurance.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

INSURANCE IN FORCE, $1,334,951,425

Number of Industrial policies in force, 9,301,001—insuring over six and a half millions of individual lives in the families of wage-earners. While the contracts are and always have been non-participating, the Company will this year have spent nearly EIGHTEEN millions of dollars in voluntary bonuses and concessions to the holders of these policies in thirteen years.

Cash bonuses on all whole life policies are annually allowed, amounting to over 8 per cent. of the premiums for a year. Additions of from 5 to 30 per cent. are made to policies maturing as claims, according to time policies have persisted. By the Company's present practice whole life policies are made free after age 75 or paid as endowments at age 80.

Industrial Insurance is Family Insurance, covering all ages from 1 to 70 on life, endowment and annuity plans.

WHEN THE KIDNEYS GIVE OUT

Backache, Rheumatism and Bladder Troubles Make Life Miserable

Do you ever feel that you simply can't go any further—that you must have rest for that lame and aching back—relief from that constant dead-tired feeling—freedom from those stabbing, darting pains?

This is the condition that so often comes at middle age, bringing with it an extreme nervousness and irritability that makes others think you "cranky" and "hard to get along with."

Likely your kidneys are worn and tired and need help. In any machine there is one part that works the hardest and gives out first. The kidneys work night and day, removing from the blood the uric acid and other waste created by overuse of strength and energy. Naturally a life of unusual activity doubles the duties of the kidneys, and in time the strain tells.

With healthy kidneys, one has a good chance to live long, but weak kidneys afflict old age with great discomforts. The back becomes beat and lame, rheumatism is chronic, eyesight fails, and too frequent or involuntary passages of the urine is dangerous and unpleasant.

Doan's Kidney Pills bring new strength to old backs, and quick relief to weakened kidneys. They banish backache and rheumatic pain, and regulate the bladder and urine. When once a proper filtering action is restored through curing the kidneys, the dangerous uric acid is once more expelled from the blood, and danger of gravel, stone, dropsy, heart trouble, diabetes and Bright's disease removed.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for sick kidneys in old or young. There is not a particle of narcotic or poisonous drugs in this remedy. It is recommended publicly by thousands.

St. Louis Proof

G. F. Erhardt, 425 North Tenth street, St. Louis, Mo., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills acted very satisfactory in my case. I had been annoyed for some time by a bearing-down pain across the lower part of my abdomen. When Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention I procured a box, but they gave me such prompt relief that I continued their use until entirely cured. I am glad to speak a good word for this effective preparation."

FIVE STARS TO CARRY BROWNS TO THE FRONT

McAleer Has a Quintette of Strong Players Around Which to Build Up a Championship Team.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

FIVE great stars on a baseball team should be encouraging to any manager who contemplates winning a pennant. The St. Louis Browns have five of the strongest players in the American League, and there is not a manager in the business who would not be delighted to have the same prospects for winning a championship as has Mr. James McAleer for the season of 1909.

The five men who form the power of the Browns are: George Stone, Bobby Wallace, Lou Criger, Rube Waddell and Hobe Ferris. That is McAleer's best hand in the big American League game that will start on April 14, and if he plays it correctly, he will win. It's a hand to play to the limit. Not another club in the League holds a better one.

Stone is a great batter, base runner and fielder. He has one little fault in a weak throwing arm, but no player is perfect. Stone is a plugger who is giving the best he has every day, and, though he may not show the most enthusiasm, he is in the game with the proper spirit.

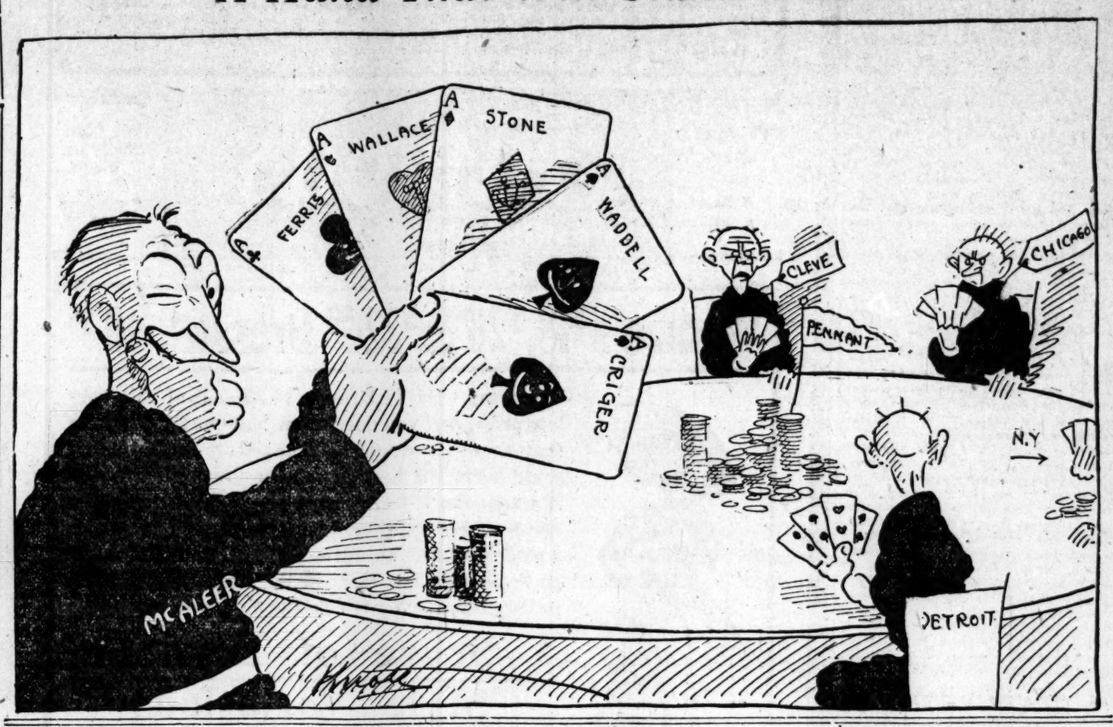

Bob Wallace is the king of shortstops. He is a strong hitter and has brains enough for an entire infield. He comes as near being a perfect player as any man in the game.

Lou Criger is one of those catchers who are faultily faultless. He has brains, a throwing arm, judgment, and all that go to make up the ideal backstop, with the one exception of hitting. He's not such a weak sticker that he should be barred from the big leagues.

Rube Waddell needs no comment. He's just Rube, with his wonderful physique, his left arm of steel and his assortment of shoots that has made the best batters in the world step away from the plate in humiliating admiration. Rube is still the best pitcher of them all when he's "right," and he's right most of the time.

Hobe Ferris should be named as the fifth card in the hand, if for no other reason than because he's a fighter. He can instill more fight into a team than any other three men. But aside from that he has a wonderful pair of hands that knock down the line hits coming toward third base, he throws well and quite often breaks up a game with one of those long hits to the outfield fence.

A Hand That Will Stand a Raise

Other American League Magnates Hold Good Cards, But Not So Many

WHETHER or not, McAleer gets another pitcher or another outfielder— whether or not, the other members of the team come up to expectations, he has enough in the above five players to make a championship team. But besides these, he has Jimmy Williams, Jack Powell, Al Schweitzer, Harry Howell and Bill Dinneen, and sitting on the bench always ready to go to bat when a hit means victory, will be the young giant, Dode Criss.

Detroit has its trio of outfielders, Cobb, Crawford and McIntyre, around which to build a championship team. It hasn't much more that could be called above the average.

Chicago has Big Ed Walsh, and—well, it's hard to think of any one else of unusual ability unless one would name Billy Sullivan. Fielder Jones is gone, George Davis is hobbling, Donohue is doubtful, and there's nothing more to talk about on that team.

Cleveland has Lajoie and Addie Joss, two of the grandest players and two that any club would be glad to have. But Cleveland hasn't five great powerful men of the diamond to hold the team to the front. Still it's a well-balanced club and capable of going at a high rate of speed when all the machinery is working in perfect order.

Boston has its Cy Young, New York has its Hal Chase, Philadelphia its Eddie Plank and Washington has its Walter Johnson. But what club can set aside five regulars of equal strength to Stone, Wallace, Criger, Waddell and Ferris?

There's a bit too much age on the Browns to be the ideal baseball team. It can never attain the speed that has been shown by the Chicago Cubs. But when the veterans of the St. Louis team get into condition and work as they are capable of working, they should win more games than any other team, barring, of course, some terrible misfortune that would rob the club of two or three of its stars.

JEFF IS CONSIDERING OFFER OF $120,000 TO FIGHT JOHNSON

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 3.—Jim Jeffries today is resting up in his home town, and during his idle moments considering the offer of a purse of $120,000 by a Seattle bank for a fight between the retired champion and Jack Johnson. Jeffries will remain here for a week or ten days attending to some personal affairs, and then go on his long theatrical tour.

Jeffries said that the work in San Francisco had been beneficial to him and that he had taken off some flesh.

JEFFRIES SEES MEMSIC BEATEN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 3.—Displaying boxing science and skill not seen here in mainy a day, Freddie Welsh last night won the decision over George Memsic in 10 rounds. It was the old game of dazzling cleverness against courage and a wallop, and the former won.

Dashing in and out, hopping and skipping about and landing straight jabs and right and left swings to Memsic's jaw and nose, Welsh had his opponent bewildered.

Even at that Memsic demonstrated that he is again rounding into the form that made him at one time the near-lightweight champion. He was constantly the aggressor, but Welsh's speed and ring generalship were too much for the Bohemian over the short course.

James J. Jeffries appeared in the ring and was given a tremendous ovation. Jeff will rest for a week and then proceed East to fill his theatrical engagements.

PRINCETON SWIMMER GETS CHANCE AT C. M. DANIELS

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—C. M. Daniels of the New York A. C. and holder of nearly all the world's swimming records up to a mile, has accepted the challenge of E. E. Denniston of Princeton University for a 50-yard race. The Princeton boy is the present holder of the intercollegiate record for the distance, which he made recently in 25 1-5 seconds in an interclass contest. This is only a second slower than the record held by Daniels. Daniels has been training for the coming contest, which will probably be held at the next aquatic meet of the New York A. C.

World's Record Maker Fears Yankee Runner

South African Who Ran the Hundred Yard Dash in :09 2-5 Thinks Rector Only Real Rival.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—Detailed reports from the Transvaal stamp R. E. Walker, the South African runner, as a truly marvelous performer in sprint races, but they leave a sparkle of doubt as to whether or not the winner of the 110-meter race at the Olympic games actually covered the "100" in 9 2-5s. recently.

True, he was timed by five watches, which registered 9 2-5s., but there is a difference of opinion as to his start. Those at the starting post say he did not get away until the pistol was fired, but those at the tape and in the press stand say it looked to them as though he beat the gun. Another thing which will make his record hang in the balance is the fact that a slight breeze was blowing down the course; very slight, and the reports say "not strong enough to aid him materially."

His race, on the whole, was little short of phenomenal. He gave all his opponents liberal handicaps and won by three yards from the second man, who had a handicap of 10 yards. This was in his heat and was summarized by a sporting writer who was on the job as follows:

"One hundred-yard handicap—First heat: R. E. Walker (scratch), first; R. Robson (10 yards), second; D. A. Stuart (7¾ yards), third. Time, 9 2-5s. Also ran: M. B. Green (9½ yards), C. F. Haynes (11 yards), J. Hener (14½ yards). They got away well, Stupart being best off, beating the pistol by a yard, whilst Walker, if he, too, did not beat the pistol holder, got an excellent start; with a series of bounds he jumped into his stride and overhauled his field rapidly. Green was passed at 70 yards, and he was level with Robson at 80 yards; thence, travelling at a terrific pace, he dashed through the worsted fully three yards ahead of Robson, who beat Stupart by another half yard. The time is a South African and world's record; for whatever was the matter with the Abergavenny track the Wanderers' is perfectly level."

Walker did not repeat in the final as was generally reported. He got away badly and was beaten five yards. The winner of the final covered the distance in 9 2-5s, but he was in receipt of an eight-yard handicap.

With the report of Walker's race comes one also of a world's sprinting record being swept off the boards by A. B. Postle, the famous Australian professional runner. He won a 70-yard dash and was timed in 7 1-16s, thus lowering by a tiny fraction of a second the mark held by W. A. Schick, the former Harvard runner, and Robby Cloughen of the Irish-American A. C., who traveled the distance in 7 1-5s. Jimmy Rector of the University of Virginia is the only American whom Walker fears.

ST. LOUIS CUE MEN HAVE A CHANCE

Billiard Team in Tri-City League Can Still Beat Chicago for the Championship.

Alfred Jelliffe, promoter of the three-cushion amateur billiard league, returned from Kansas City this morning with Dr. Will Campbell and R. J. Rolfe, local billiardists, who won three out of four games from Kansas City men Monday and Tuesday.

Jelliffe says Dr. Campbell played one of the greatest billiard games he ever witnessed when he defeated John Moore of Kansas City last night, 50 to 41. In the third inning Moore scratched a point and then ran 6. In his next inning he ran 6 more. This made the score 15 to 3 in Moore's favor. The crowd all cheered Moore, but Dr. Campbell never flinched, and with careful safety and playing great execution on natural shots, he tied Moore at the 23 point mark. The men were tied at the 41 point mark, but Dr. Campbell, by a strong finish, won out without allowing Moore another point.

Rolfe lost a hard game yesterday afternoon to Fred Backus of Kansas City, 50 to 39. Dr. Campbell relieved Rolfe when the score stood 41 to 31 in favor of Backus, but the latter won out.

The Kansas City players will play in Chicago Monday and Tuesday and the Chicago men will play in St. Louis on Feb. 15 and 16, which will bring the league season to a close. St. Louis still has a chance to win the championship, even if the Chicago men win three out of four games from the Kansas City players.

Chicago has won five matches and lost three. St. Louis men have won six and lost six and the Kansas City men have won five games and lost seven.

CAHILL LAUNCHES NEW INTERSTATE LEAGUE

Tom Cahill was elected secretary and Henry Kulage sergeant-at-arms of the Missouri-Illinois Trolley Baseball League at a meeting held at the Marquette Hotel, which makes it certain that the organization will give the new Trolley League which was reorganized last night a hard battle during the coming season for patronage.

The Missouri-Illinois League meeting was held at the Planters Hotel.

The Ben Millers, Grand-Leaders, Ellendales, Belleville and Alta Sitas compose the league and C. M. Hanaway was elected secretary.

The Gillespie, Staunton, Mount Olive clubs, all of Illinois, and the Funstens and White Seals will make up Cahill's league. Fred Ziegenhein of East St. Louis was elected president of the league.

WRAY'S COLUMN.

THE first class in baseball science felt its annual tremor when Teacher Garry Herrman announced that the entire National Commission would hear the daily lesson this morning. Little Clarkie Griffith, who had been reading "Daredevil Pete" behind Ted Kennedy's book on "how to curve a ball 24 ways," promptly settled down to business.

By way of quickening the intelligence of the class for the ordeal to come, Teacher propounded the question:

"What, in your opinion, is the most important property of the National Commission?"

The class seemed to be stumped on the proposition until little Bobby Hedges thought he had a clew and replied:

"The Laughery Club."

He was about to receive a painful reward for truth, when Harry Pulliam entered and, after him, a moment later, the third party to the commission squeezed between the door jambs.

Little Clarkie Griffith tossed a bomb into Teacher's camp right at the start, when Harry Pulliam took the questioning in hand and asked him to tell what he thought of Hal Chase. After transcribing Clarkie's reply verbatim for five minutes, Secretary Bruce of the commission moved that the reply be expunged from the records, as unfit for publication.

The suggestion was carried. Mr. Johnson thereupon created a diversion by asking how far it was from home plate to the pennant pole.

"Well," replied Bobby Hedges, after considering carefully, "it's 488 miles from my home plate, according to the railroad timetable."

The commission drew a collective breath and passed on to Stanny Robison.

"MR. ROBISON," proceeded Mr. Johnson, "In 1902 you had some little experience with baseball contracts and their—er—elasticity. What is your understanding of the nature of baseball contracts?"

"Their nature? Bad, very bad."

"We refer to their structure, sir—not to their disposition, if they have such a trait. What's the matter with the baseball contracts?"

"Well, the trouble I found was that its reserve claws were not made sharp enough to hold."

Mr. Johnson murmured "quite right," and looked at little Bobby Hedges as one who had compounded a felony.

To relieve the strain, up piped that well known modiste, Harry Pulliam. Pushing back his directoire overcoat and adjusting his Incroyable tie, he queried:

"Now Charlie Comiskey, you and Fielder Jones have about threshed out this matter, tell us just how much the best baseball player is worth?"

"He is worth 60,000,000 sesterces—if he can get them," was the Old Roman's reply.

Mr. Pulliam, never having lived under Caligula, had to take the sum for granted, but he remarked that he thought Walter Johnson might bring more than that.

"And now, in conclusion, boys, what was the most auspicious sign for the future of baseball that you observed during the past twelve months?"

This rather halted the intellectual baseball mechanism of the class until astute Johnny McGraw piped up with:

"I know—that was when Charley Spink, Joe Cantillon, Ban Johnson and Charlie Comiskey went on a hunting trip together and returned with no casualties."

Teacher Herrmann thought it wise to dismiss school for the day at this juncture.

NOTES of the links—Constantinople has 235,000 dogs.

A St. Louis man has produced a $30,000 pink; now Toledo is to have a $100,000 baseball plant. Different sort of a "graft" required, perhaps.

Philadelphia has a Marathon club whose members run weekly races. The time is distinctly poor.

Now that Jimmy Collins is signed to manage the Millers, how dare any say that he is not in the flour of his career?

If Hans Wagner keeps on retiring he will certainly wear out his pajamas.

The conjunction of Ernest Roeber with the newest wrestler, Siegfried, "the Oak," reminds one of the old story of the eggs—two bad.

Even if he isn't world's fight title-holder, from the way he is raking in the coin, Jeffries might call himself the champion croupier of the world.

Society note—Kansas City is entertaining that distinguished scion of one of the best baseball families, Mr. Rube Waddell.

Johnny Hayes, the Marathon runner, who won the Olympic event and who was afflicted with cranial enlargement, is reported improving since operated on by the celebrated physician, Dorando Pietri.

Jack Johnson wants a negro to referee, if he fights Jim Jeffries; Jeffries, of course, wants a white man. The reason they don't employ the double umpire system in this case is through fear there might be two fights without any referee.

MOTHER AND BIRDIE KERN WIN AND LOSE AT TENPINS

Martin Kern, former champion bowler of the Middle West, and Miss Birdie Kern, former national woman's champion bowler and at the present the champion bowler of St. Louis, rolled several matches in Kansas City yesterday, winning and losing. Mrs. and Miss Nicholls lost to Miss Kern and Mrs. Kern. In the evening the local bowlers lost a match game to Mr. and Mrs. Blum. PETERSON SEEKS 18.2 CUE TITLE

Charles C. Peterson, champion red-ball billiard player, and one of the first division balkline players, will depart for Chicago this week for a conference with Willie Hoppe, former world's champion billiardist, who voluntarily relinquished his title. Peterson may double up with Hoppe for a short exhibition tour.

While in Chicago Peterson will also have a talk with the men who practically control the billiard game in this country. If he can come to satisfactory terms with them, Peterson will enter the world's championship 18.2 balkline tournament, to be held in Chicago in the near future, in which Slosson, Cutler, Cline and possibly Sutton and Jake Schaefer will compete.

Peterson, in practice yesterday at the 18.2 game, averaged considerably over 25, which is good enough to win the tournament.

ROLLA HAS SIXTEEN STARS FOR COCHEMS' BIG MEET

Eddie Cochems, coach of the St. Louis University athletics, yesterday received a request from the Missouri School of Mines at Rolla, Mo., for 16 entry blanks for the annual indoor athletic meet to be held under the auspices of the varsity in the Coliseum a week from Saturday night.

This makes it apparent that the entire Rolla track team will compete in the meet and try to annex the point trophy.

A dual meet has been arranged for the St. Louis U. men for Saturday night. The students from the dental, law and medical departments will oppose the students from the college, academy and commercial departments.

WRESTLERS TOO "STRONG" FOR B. M. G.'S MANAGER

Harry Cook, the young manager of the Business Men's Gymnasium, declares that if any wrestlers ever try to bring off a match in his place again that he will use a club on them. Charles Olsen was "rung" in on a delegation of Bulgarians Sunday, and by beating one of their colony, took about $300 from the foreigners.

"The roar those Greeks set up when they found that it was Olsen in a pair of heavy glasses and a bathrobe they would have to beat, was too much for my nerves," said Cook. Lloyd Carter had previously been introduced as the man who would meet their champion, George Baptiste, Olsen's friend acted as referee and Baptiste's father as stakeholder. Olsen's manager, Quinn, attended to putting the other jolts over. I was afraid of my life for a time. No more wrestlers for my place, whether they are 'ringers' or not."

MOTORING

Through express from the West now is delivered to the consignee in New York City just 24 hours sooner than it was before the Adams Express Co. placed a Packard three-ton truck in night service. The truck, which is one of the 14 Packard trucks used by the Adams company in the metropolitan district, runs between the Adams company's Jersey City dock, its garage and distributing station on West Forty-seventh street, its Harlem station on One Hundred and Twenty-fourth street and its Brooklyn depot. It combines the handling of packages to be transferred between these stations with carrying incoming and outgoing through express. The service between trains and distributing points which it renders through the night allows the actual delivery of Western express packages one day in advance of the previous schedule.

Cleveland, O., claims to have more women motorists than any other city in the country in proportion to population. It is also asserted that nine-tenths of male motor car owners in Cleveland drive their own machines in preference to employing chauffeurs.

Comparatively little difference is made in the distance registered by speedometers by changing from smooth tread to non-skid tires. Figures show that a difference in tire diameter of half an inch in the case of a 34-inch tire should not amount to more than 80 feet for a mile.

According to a motor expert an excellent method of testing the circulating pump is by feeling the radiator. If the tubes are not the water is circulating properly; if cold, either the supply of water is exhausted or the system is inoperative.

STREETS CEDED TO LACLEDE GAS

Council Passes Bill and Sends It to the House.

After receiving from the Laclede Gaslight Co. assurances that it will make provision for persons who have private sewers in the streets the company wants vacated between Catalan street, Broadway, the river and the southern city limits, the Council has passed and sent to the House of Delegates a bill ceding the thoroughfares.

No opposition, except from those who had built sewers in the district, developed when the Council's Committee on Public Improvements met to consider protests Tuesday.

The Laclede company intends to erect a large plant, at a cost of $15,000,000, on property through which the vacated streets extend.

PRAISES SHAW'S GARDEN

Prof. Trelease Urges Greater Attendance at Resort.

Regret that Shaw's garden was not visited by a greater number of the people of St. Louis was expressed by Prof. Trelease in a lecture Tuesday night at the Second Baptist Church. He said the visitors to the garden numbered only one out of each seven of the population each year, while the per capita cost of caring for the grounds was 25 cents. The number of visitors on week days was doubled in the last ten years. Shaw's garden, he said, was known wherever St. Louis was known, and he praised the liberality of Henry Shaw, who gave it to the city.

Cut this out and put in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at any good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; compound syrup of sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, weakness and backache, pain about the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the climinative tissues of the kidneys. It gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood, relieving the worst forms of Rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. Y. W. C. A. GIRLS VISIT SLUMS IN AID OF REVIVAL

Dwellers in the "Bad Lands" Invited to Attend Gipsy Smith Meetings.

INDIVIDUAL WORK DONE

Workers in Stores and Offices Dined and Escorted to the Coliseum.

While Gipsy Smith was telling a Bible class of women in the West End Tuesday afternoon what they ought to do in their neighborhoods to help along the work of evangelization of St. Louis, a band of young women were going from door to door in the "Bad Lands" district and in the slumes, calling women to the doors and urging them to attend the Gipsy Smith meetings in the Coliseum.

These young women, all of them members of the Y. W. C. A., carried tracts and printed invitations to the Gipsy Smith meetings. They would ring the bell and when the door opened they would speak pleasantly.

"I have called to ask you to please attend the Gipsy Smith meetings in the Coliseum," was the stereotyped invitation, and sometimes this led to quite a long conversation. Not once was any of the women workers asked to enter one of the houses, although they asked to be let in.

"No, indeed, it is no place for you," said one young woman who opened the door in response to the call of the young woman worker for evangelization.

Received Courteously.

"Our women secretaries visited all the district known as the "Bad Lands," said Miss Lottie Hess, a Y. W. C. A. secretary, "and called at all the houses. Not once were they insulted. In every case they were received courteously, but in no instance was the door opened more than a few inches. Many of the women thanked us warmly for calling and promised to attend the meetings. Whether they did or not I do not know."

For a month before the beginning of the Gipsy Smith meetings the Y. W. C. A. was organizing for it. The 550 young women of the 17 Bible classes were trained in the special work. The association bought 100 copies of the life of Gipsy Smith and distributed them among the girls, so they would be familiar with his work and could talk about it. The work to be done by these hundreds of young women was the bringing of non-Christian girls to the meetings.

Individual Appeals to Girls.

Among these hundreds of young women were factory workers, stenographers, waitresses, department store employes and so on. Each was pledged to talk to other girls who worked with her and to try and get them to attend the meetings. To those who would come direct from their work a warm welcome and a warm supper was prepared at the Y. W. C. A., at Garrison and Lucas avenues.

Thousands of young women were taken to the meetings by this means. One young woman who works in an office building took 12 young women from the same building with her Tuesday night, first to supper in the Y. W. C. A. house and then to the meeting in the Coliseum. Three of these professed religion at the meeting, and all the others promised to come again. The name and home address of each was taken and the work thus begun will be followed up after Gipsy Smith goes away.

Meals Furnished by Y. W. C. A.

Sixty-five young women from factories and department stores were brought in by the workers Monday night, and after a supper and a prayer service in the Y. W. C. A. house, all went together to the Coliseum meeting. Not one of the 65 was a church member.

There is just as efficient a force of personal workers among the men. At each meeting in the Coliseum several hundred men are in different parts of the hall, and if a man or woman stands up in response to the invitation of the evangelist, or, otherwise signifies that he has been touched by the appeal of the services, a worker goes to him and talks with him, gets his name and address and tries to coax him to go into the inquiry room for further exhortation.

If the appeal in the inquiry room fails to make a conversion, a worker goes next day to see the man or woman at his or her home or place of business, and the appeal is kept up.

"BOY" OSBORN WANTS EVANS TO FORGIVE WIFE

Lieutenant Hears Ultimatum That He Must Marry Woman He Kissed.

ROLE OF PEACEMAKER

Naval Officer Starts to San Francisco to See Couple He Estranged.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Feb. 3.—The U. S. S. Cheyenne touched port here today, having on board Lieut. F. W. ("Boy") Osburn, the handsome young naval officer who is accused by Naval Constructor Holden Evans with wrecking his home and being the cause of the divorce recently obtained in Marine County, California, as the result of being caught kissing Mrs. Evans, recalling the theme of James K. Hackett's play, "John Glayde's Honor."

When Osburn came ashore he learned for the first time of the domestic havoc he had caused in the Evans home. He has been at sea ever since the kissing episode, when he hurriedly left the Evans home following the entrance of the injured husband with his friends.

Will Urge Reconciliation.

Osburn read newspaper dispatches and letters from friends telling of the divorce. Then he read the declaration of Constructor Evans to the effect that unless the lieutenant marries the divorced wife within a year he must face a courtmartial on charges of conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman. He at once asked for leave of absence, which was granted, and he then started for San Francisco.

It is said that his intention is to effect a reconciliation between Evans and his wife. His method of doing this is unknown, and the result will be watched with interest. Advices from San Francisco say that when Evans was informed that Osburn was on his way in the role of a peacemaker, he declared that he would never be successful. When told of Osborn's mission, Mrs. Evans merely smiled and said nothing.

The episode that sundered Evans and his wife took place in the quarters of the naval constructor at Mare Island, the naval station at San Francisco. Osburn went to Mare Island as a handsome young ensign, newly assigned, and became immediately popular among the women at the station.

Divorce Followed Kissing.

While Evans was lying ill at his home, Mrs. Evans had a caller. Evans, looking toward the door, which was ajar, saw through the crack his wife's eyes fastened upon him, and behind her recognized the face of Osburn.

Pretending to be asleep, he saw them leave the door, and heard a rustle of skirts in the room downstairs. He hurriedly dressed, ran out and summoned two friends. They went into the house noiselessly and discovered Osburn impressing repeated kisses upon the lips of the beautiful Mrs. Evans.

When they entered the room, Osburn took his departure as gracefully as he might, and Mrs. Evans is said to have confessed her friendship for the young ensign. Separation and divorce followed.

FLAG OF SCHOOL FLOATS AT HALF STAFF FOR GOOD PUPIL

The flag of the Hancock School in Luxemburg, St. Louis County, floated at halfmast and all the children mourned when Willie Byrnes died of pneumonia. The reason why there was so much sorrow in the school over the death of one of their playmates is expressed as follows in a set of resolutions adopted by the school:

"Because Willie was always so kind and pleasant with us all, and was so careful in the preparation of his lessons, and in his conduct at school; we express our deepest sorrow and offer our tenderest sympathy to his brothers, sisters, father and mother."

Willie was the son of William and Julia Byrnes of 220 Pearl avenue, Luxemburg.

PRINCIPALS OF ST. LOUIS SCHOOLS PRAISE "TRIP TO WASHINGTON" PLAN

POPULAR CANDIDATE FROM EAST ST. LOUIS HIGH SCHOOL

MISS MAUDE KATHERINE KEYS.

Miss Keys attends the East St. Louis High School. She is the daughter of Joseph N. Keys, treasurer of the Drainage Board and a member of the County Board of Supervisors. Miss Keys is very popular among her classmates and has received many ballots for member of the Post-Dispatch party which is to go to Washington to see the inauguration of President Taft.

Point Out Educational Features and Broadening Influence Upon Pupils Who Are to Be Guests of Post-Dispatch in Week's Tour to Washington to See President Taft Inaugurated.

From parents of school children, educators, principals and teachers in the schools of St. Louis and East St. Louis, have come words of praise for the plan to send 10 pupils to Washington in the first week of March as guests of the Post-Dispatch to see the inauguration of President Taft and visit all the places of interest in and around the national capital.

Throughout the trip, beginning with the departure from Union Station and lasting until the members of the party are returned to their homes, each and every pupil will be in charge of and under the constant supervision of approved chaperones—one a matron—and themselves experienced travelers and in every way qualified to have the management of a tour of this kind.

It is the education feature of the tour which appeals most strongly to fathers and mothers and instructors in the schools. While the pageantry and ceremony of the inauguration itself will be a most inspiring spectacle, it cannot fail to impress the pupils with the possibilities of the future in the life of every American boy and girl.

Then, too, the inspection of the great national departments, both branches of Congress, the truly magnificent art galleries, libraries and museums, and the visits to Mount Vernon and Arlington Cemetery, afford opportunities for learning not equaled in any other city in the country.

Chester B. Curtis, principal of Central High School, believes the trip to Washington presents vast advantages for children of the upper grammar school grades and the high schools.

"Under proper guidance, the trip the Post-Dispatch offers to school children can be excelled by none anywhere in our country," he says.

"It will give the boys and girls a chance to study at close range many important things entering into our national life, which our children should know. It finishes out most admirably the course in history which grammar school pupils finish before entering the high schools.

"I feel like Supt. Blewett, that the deserving pupils should have the trip, or, in other words, those whose parents have never been able to take their children on these sight-seeing expeditions.

"I am sure, though, that if left to the pupils themselves, those who are chosen will be admirable selections. I am convinced of this because of the knowledge I have of the afairs of my pupils and what I have seen at class elections. All the offices invariably go to the students best equipped in every way for the place they are elected to. In such matters children display the greatest discretion."

Will Make Better Citizens.

John Rush Powell, principal of the James E. Yeatman High School, Natural Bridge road and Garrison avenue, is of the opinion that the trip will make better citizens of the pupils.

"A trip to Washington is always to be desired," he says. "Most of us Americans hope, at some time or another in our life, to go there. Every boy and girl should cherish the same idea.

"The trip offered by the Post-Dispatch affords opportunities worth immeasurably more to boys and girls than a week's outing anywhere else could ever do. It will be broadening in every sense. Going through the Government buildings, where the children may see how national affairs are handled, where our laws are made, the men who make them, those who administer them, and the countless interesting things to be seen, will never be forgotten by those in the party.

"I am sure that there is not one of the Yeatman's 1200 pupils who would not be immensely pleased to get the chance to take the Washington trip."

Francis E. Cook, principal of the Wayman Crow School, Bell, Channing and School streets, gives his unqualified approval to the plan of the Post-Dispatch to send 10 school children to the Taft inaugural.

"As a lesson in Government and in history, past and present, and for the opportunity it will afford boys and girls to understand their studies in geography, the trip could not be surpassed," he says.

"Of course, it is a trip which every school boy and girl hopes for, and it is certain that those who are fortunate enough to be included in the party of ten will appreciate such a never-to-be-forgotten excursion."

OPINIONS OF ST. LOUIS SCHOOL PRINCIPALS

Chester B. Curtis, Central High School:

"It will give the boys and girls a chance to study at close range many important things entering into our national life."

John Rush Powell, Yeatman High School:

"Going through the Government departments, where the pupils may see how national affairs are handled, where laws are made, the men who make and administer them, and the countless interesting things to be seen, will never be forgotten by those in the party."

Francis E. Cook, Wayman Crow School:

"As a lesson in government and in history, past and present and for the opportunity it will afford boys and girls to understand their studies in geography, this trip could not be surpassed."

Notes of the Election.

No newspapers will be sold in bulk to any contestants. Ballots must come from copies of the Post-Dispatch printed for distribution to regular readers. This rule is made to insure a free field and equal opportunity for every eligible pupil.

SON RESTORED TO MOTHER BY POST-DISPATCH

William Gilmore, a St. Louis boy, who was a wanderer for more than twenty years, has been restored to Mrs. John E. Buhler of 2309 North Twelfth street, the mother whom he mourned as dead for many years, through the Post-Dispatch.

Gilmore while in Laporte City, B. C., learned through the Post-Dispatch that his mother was seeking him. Sunday he arrived in St. Louis and was reunited with his mother and twin sister, Mrs. Elsa Hannibal, at Mrs. Buhler's home. He says he will stay with her as long as she lives.

Almost 22 years ago William Gilmore, then a newsboy, 10 years old, made up his mind to shift for himself. His father was dead and his widowed mother had to support herself.

After he had lived in Canada and various Northwestern states for several years, the St. Louis cyclone occurred, and in the list of dead appeared the name of Mrs. James A. Gilmore. Mrs. Gilmore had married again, and was then Mrs. Buhler, but her son did not know this and he thought his mother dead.

She continued to hunt for him, but always signed herself Mrs. John E. Buhler, and for this reason her son never paid any attention to the advertisements that were published about him.

He went to La Porte City 10 months ago and opened a barber shop. Then he married, and his wife became interested in his story, thinking of the sorrow of his mother if she were alive, and not being sure of the woman's death.

Mrs. William Gilmore sent an advertisement to the Post-Dispatch, and Mrs. Buhler saw it. Her reply through the newspaper reached Gilmore, and his hasty trip to St. Louis was the result.

"I Hear You Perfectly NOW!"

Box 44 West Nyack, N. Y.
General Acoustic Co. Dec. 20, 1908.

Gentlemen:—I have been deaf for 40 years. During my service in the Civil War my ears became seriously affected from gun-firing and have been growing steadily worse (if possible) ever since.

I want to thank you most sincerely for the opportunity to test the Acousticon; for I had lost faith in everything that claimed to make me hear. Though I could not hear conversation close to my ear, I can now hear it anywhere in the room clearly and distinctly. Some aids that I have tried help a little, but the Acousticon makes me hear just as clearly and at the same distance that I heard before I was afflicted at all.

I shall be very glad to have you use this letter in any way that you please.

Gratefully,
THOS. H. HARRINGTON.

The experience of Mr. Harrington (whose photo appears herewith) is the same as that of thousands who are now using the Acousticon—to them we have said as we now say to you:

"Test the Acousticon, and let us prove that it will make you hear easily, distinctly and clearly.

"ENTIRELY AT OUR EXPENSE."

If you are not convenient to one of our many offices, you can test it at your own home, and if you do not hear satisfactorily the trial will not cost you one cent. No trial fee, no penalty, no expense whatever if you do not hear.

A very light and unnoticeable headband makes it unnecessary to hold the earpiece, and leaves both hands perfectly free. Ladies who use the Acousticon dress their hair so as to make the headband and earpiece invisible.

The Acousticon is the original electrical hearing device, fully protected by U. S. patents, and you cannot secure anything as efficient under another name.

More Facts About the New Treatment

Suggested Neutralizing Mixture for Cases of Fermentative Indigestion.

PEPSIN VALUELESS.

No Use Dosing Stomach If Fermentation in Intestines. Reason Behind New Method.

It has been pointed out recently that pepsin is ineffectual in an alkaline medium, and that the intestines are always alkaline. It has furthermore been proven that, since most obstruction and poisonous fermentation occurs in the intestines, the effectual use of pepsin is limited to that state of gastric insufficiency in which the intestines have not yet had time to become infected. Inasmuch as the food passes directly from the stomach into the intestines, and inasmuch as fermentation sets up at once in an impure or improperly mixed chyme, the cases in which pepsin is of service are comparatively rare. After the poisons set to work in the intestines, pepsin is valueless. On the other hand, any good alkaline elixir or neutralizing mixture will, if properly compounded, at once stimulate the tardy gastric juices, stop the fermentation and the formation of poisonous gases in the intestines.

The following formula has been suggested as making an excellent antacid of the kind in question: Half ounce sodium phosphate, one ounce essence of sealmint, half teaspoonful of good baking soda, enough water to make 8 ounces. Dose: Two teaspoonfuls before each meal.

This neutralizing mixture, it has been claimed, will relieve immediately, and will eventually cure. It ought to cost about 60 or 65 cents. You can mix it up for yourself, or have your druggist make it up for you.

Cut this out and save it. It may at some time be the means of aborting an attack of intestinal fever.

MESSENGER BOY TALKS BASS AND LANDS BURGLAR

Prowler in Room at Night Fooled by Deep Voice From Bed.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Albert Beck, A. D. T. messenger and expert in old sleuth literature, has been the means of sending George Wall, a burglar, to the House of Correction. The story told by the boy in court rivals his favorite stories in blood-thrilling details.

Extracts follow:

"It was the night of Dec. 23, about 3 o'clock in the morning. I was awakened by some noise in the room and in the darkness I could dimly see a man moving about. I knew it was a burglar, and so I lay still, thinking what I would do.

"Once he came over to the bed and looked at me, and I closed my eyes and made believe I was asleep.

"Then he went on searching the room and I opened my eyes again and watched him. I could see he was a full-grown, strong man, and I thought I would have a hard time taking him red-handed, and single-handed without my gun or knife.

"So at last I decided there was only one way to capture him and bring him to justice, and that was by a ruse. So I spoke up suddenly with a deep bass voice, just like a man, and said:

"'Aha, you've got into the wrong place this time—it's all up with you. I'm a police officer and I've got you where I want you. Put up your hands and don't move or you're a dead one.'

"I had my finger and thumb pointed at him just like a gun, and in the dark he certainly thought it was one. He put up his hands without saying a word, so I thought I would scare him some more and make it good.

"'Now, you, Mr. Burglar,' I says, still talking deep, 'turn around to the wall and keep up your hands until I dress.'"

Young Beck related how he started to march his prisoner to the Police Station; but about a block away they met a patrolman, who took the burglar into custody. Wall sheepishly admitted he had been captured by the boy's ruse.

Safeguard of Health Free

The army and the navy are the safeguards of the nation, but the individual body also requires its safeguard. By twenty years' use in American homes of every shade and degree of wealth and intelligence, Dr. CaldwelL's Syrup Pepsin has been acclaimed "The Nation's Safeguard of Health."

No remedy but a laxative could win this laurel, for the stomach and the bowels are the basis of all health, and Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is for the stomach and bowels. Parents are giving it to their children today who were given it by their parents years ago. It is not only a wonderful cure for constipation, indigestion and dyspepsia, sour stomach, heartburn, flatulency, torpid liver and such complaints, but it contains wonderful tonic properties that build up the muscles of the stomach and intestines so that they again work normally and naturally.

It is especially adapted to the uses of women, children, old people and all others who need a gentle laxative and who cannot stand violent salts and cathartic pills. This has made it the family laxative and it can be obtained of any druggist at 50 cents or $1 a bottle, with the guarantee, but if you are a stranger to it and would rather try it free before buying, send your name to the doctor and a free test bottle will be sent to your home. In this way tens of thousands of people are learning to use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Lou's Edwards of Poteet, Miss., wrote the doctor as follows: "I believe in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I will never use any other medicine for stomach trouble but Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The sample bottle convinced me of its merits." Now you can try it, either in the free trial or the regular 50 cents or $1 bottle, and you will soon share Mrs. Edwards' opinion.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 502 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill.

INTERNATIONAL GOOD WILL.

Discussing the influence of the interchange of professors between Germany and America, Prof. Kuehnemann of Breslau, exchange professor of Harvard, said he was not sure that it would have any political effect; the plan was not intended to influence the politics of the countries, but the educational methods and ideals. He said that the interchange of ideas, the injection of the spirit, the atmosphere, the thought and ideals of one nation into another, the impressing of them on the youth of each, would result in large educational benefits.

But the political effect must inevitably follow the educational influence. It is impossible to make two peoples familiar with each other's ideals, national spirit, thought and modes of life without destroying prejudice and kindling friendly sentiment. "Ignorance is the curse of God." It is the fertile soil of passion and prejudice. We are easily misled into suspicion and animosity toward the people we do not know. Civilization is the perception and recognition of relations and its flower is the complete and perfect perception of the relation of brotherhood. The kindling of the sense of brotherhood through the growing knowledge of the good qualities, the high ideals, the literature and the common aspirations of other peoples engenders sympathy which is a powerful factor in politics. Informed public sentiment eliminates suspicion and hostility. It insists upon the expression of good will in the laws dealing with the interests of neighbor nations and in our international relations.

As the press is sometimes, despite its true mission, the most powerful fomenter of international distrusts and animosities, perhaps a more direct way of promoting public sentiment in favor of peace would be through an exchange of editors. If the exchangeable professors were supplemented with exchangeable editors, who would teach good will in the larger forum of the newspaper, an immediate political effect might be gained. Nevertheless, the German and American professors who are exchanging lecture platforms are doing effective work for mutual good will between Germany and America.

C. Q., Missouri! Olly John is trying "to put one over on you."

SHAMING THE MELODRAMA INDIAN.

The melodrama Indian of blood-curdling warwhoops, circling tomahawk and gleaming scalping-knife must surely contemplate with amazement his real-life brother, Eli N. Perkins, full-blooded Pawnee, now at Jefferson Barracks preparing to abandon the warpath for the gentler ways of peace.

Pawnee Perkins is arranging to buy his discharge from the United States army in order that he may marry and settle down. "My father is rich," he says, mildly. "I myself own 160 acres of land in North Dakota. I was only a boy when I first enlisted. Now I know I am wasting my life, and I am lonesome for home."

And this from an Indian! Glory of Ned Buntline and Buffalo Bill and Kit Carson and Charles E. Blaney and all other frontier heroes and makers of frontier heroes in books and plays, how have the mighty fallen! Yet, at the same time, how sensible an Indian is Pawnee Perkins. One cannot but contemplate him with the sincerest hope that it is he, and not the traditional redman of "thriller" stories and dramas, who best represents his race in these latter days.

It is one of the mysteries of chance that a revolver discharged accidentally is much more likely to inflict a fatal wound than one aimed at a burglar.

ANTI-RACETRACK VICTORIES.

Anti-racetrack bills are now pending in California, Texas and Oklahoma, with good prospect of passage.

The fight against this great iniquity began in New Jersey 10 years ago, and has been followed up by New York, the District of Columbia, Indiana, Illinois, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana and Missouri. In Kentucky the gambling is greatly restricted.

So successful has been this crusade against one of the most vicious forms of vice that the gambling interests have given up all hope of maintaining themselves in this country and are said to be planning to go to Mexico, where they claim to have been promised immunity.

It is one of the practical moral victories that have been won during the past 10 years of agitation. In the face of opposition backed up by unlimited money and directed by the most ingenious tricksters who disgrace the legal profession, the better sense of the community has asserted itself effectually, and there is no danger that the country will drift back again into the conditions of 1898. The reform is substantially planted in the public will.

THE CONDITION OF SUCCESS.

When the leaders of the local party organizations feel that they must placate the independent elements in order to win, their usual method is to nominate good general tickets tagged with bad nominations for minor offices and for the House of Delegates. The leaders throw sops to the ward bosses and the corrupt elements by permitting them to name their candidates for the lesser places. Their excuse to the better citizens is that they cannot control the gang nor dictate ward nominations.

This excuse will not be accepted in the approaching city elections. The people of St. Louis want good men in every office. They particularly want a majority of reputable, intelligent men in the House of Delegates; pledged to pressing reforms. They will demand of the party organizations that the tickets be good, not only at the top, but throughout.

The party leaders can assure good lesser nominations by refusing to recognize or support bad nominations. They can offer the ward bosses the alternative of nominating good men for every office or losing the support of the general party organization. They can whip the ward bosses into line.

The party which nominates the best ticket from top to bottom is the party which will receive the support of the independent voters this spring. That is the condition of success.

It is a question whether the Post-Dispatch's offer of trips to Washington for school children will be more popular because it will give the tourists a chance to see the last of Roosevelt or the first of Taft.

THE STANDARD OIL CO. HUMBLED.

The petition of the Standard Oil Co. presented to the Supreme Court to be allowed to continue business in Missouri is a humble confession that it is not above the law and that it submits to the law just like other less powerful persons, natural and corporate, whose pretensions have not been so ambitious.

But it is too soon to pass judgment on the merits of the proposal. It may or may not be a scheme to ruin the Waters-Pierce Co. and strengthen the hold of the great monopoly on the oil business in Missouri.

The whole significance of the petition for present purposes, is that it is an unqualified acknowledgment of the right of the State to regulate and control the corporation. This is a new thing in monopoly policy. Not so long ago the chief of the Standard took great pains to show his contempt for the authority of the State of Missouri by vulgarly insulting Attorney-General Hadley, and refusing to answer questions. Now it is another tune. The vigor of the State authority is awakened and the insolence of the monopoly is turned into a plaintive prayer for mercy.

Helen Maloney's matrimonial tangle having been unraveled, Miss Elkins should marry the poor young man or the Duke and retire to a Longworth obscurity.

AN UNUSUAL PRIVILEGE.

The inauguration of a President of the United States is an impressive demonstration of the first and finest principle of our form of national Government, yet it is a spectacle which very few of the many millions who live far from the national capital are ever privileged to see.

Fortunate, indeed, therefore, are the school children of St. Louis and East St. Louis who will go to Washington in the first week of March as guests of the Post-Dispatch to see Mr. Taft step from the ranks of 80,000,000 private citizens to take the highest and most important public office in the world. Nothing better could be calculated to arouse ambition in youthful minds or stamp upon them a permanent realization of the ideals of our institutions.

This, with other days for sightseeing and a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon, will provide a week of unusual enjoyment in which the pleasure of travel and observation is made the handmaiden of education.

Chicago "swell dressers" are to wear tan and pink striped shirts this spring, with brilliant red ties and green hats. Darktown will be envious.

IMPROVE THE ELECTION LAW.

The election law for St. Louis stands in need of radical alterations, and it is hoped Gov. Hadley and the Legislature will give the subject all the attention it deserves.

Generally speaking, the leading idea should be to liberate the election machinery completely from the influence and control of political bosses.

In pursuance of this idea provision should be made for the selection of capable and honest election officers in the precincts. Experience has shown that many of the judges and clerks are ignorant, careless and generally incompetent. And some of them are mere creatures of the bosses selected with reference to their subservience to the machine dictators. Competent men can be had, and the Legislature should take steps to accomplish this object by legal means which cannot be circumvented by ingenious politicians. The 2200 ballots rejected by the Legislative joint committee in the Painter-Gmelich recount and the blunders found by that body prove the need of more intelligent election officers.

The grand jury recently called attention to the fact that there were about 6000 names on the registration books which ought not to be there. Under the law the judges and clerks are authorized and directed to erase names fraudulently entered and names of voters who have removed from their several precincts. But there seems to be no provision to check this work. The judges and clerks are practically irresponsible, no authority being designated to call them up and make them give an account of themselves and prove the correction of their work. True, they are answerable criminally, but in most cases the mischief is done, the frauds committed and the election results tainted with uncertainty before prosecution is instituted. What is needed is some summary process by which the books can be purged of fraudulent names before election.

Precincts should contain not more than 300 or 400 voters. They should be divided where they exceed a manageable number.

With the experience gained since the enactment of the Filley law in 1896 the Legislature ought to find it easy to frame a law of the best quality. It ought to be one of the principal interests of the revising session.

Mr. Roosevelt told his countrymen how to kill game. Mr. Taft, who made a gastronomic tour of the South and will be served with alligator steak when he returns to New Orleans, should be able to tell us how and what to eat.

The Carmack trial will accomplish one good. It will improve the penmanship and literary style of the letter-writing wife of the unhealthy juror.

Jeffries is to get $50,000 for 20 weeks in vaudeville. This seems to prove that a hand as big as a ham is better than a skull filled with brains.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Help for W. B.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

If the gentleman asking for advice in your issue of Jan. 29 in regard to a position, signing initials W. B., will call at 6162A Etzel avenue, after 6:30 p. m., I think I can help him to a good position. G.

Young Wife in Trouble.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will some kind reader of the Post-Dispatch tell a young wife how to win her husband's love back? Some months ago, during a little quarrel, we separated, but after becoming reconciled I saw my mistake; but he doesn't seem to want to live together again, although I see him most every day. We are both so young, it seems a shame to get a divorce, for I am sure he still loves me and I love him. Will some loving wife or husband give me some advice? A HEART-BROKEN WIFE.

How to Get Acquainted.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In answer to letter headed "Alone in a Great City," would say I think if she would attend some church she would find plenty of young ladies of her own age who would be most happy to make her acquaintance and not feel that she is one too many. If Miss J. S. R. will come to Centenary Sunday School, Sixteenth and Pine streets, next Sunday, at 2:30 p. m., and ask for the Philathea Class, I am sure she will never feel so lonely again. We have socials and entertainments and a general good time, with a good teacher and a class membership of 45 and several different organized classes. Come down and get acquainted and help us have a pleasant time. A well-wisher who hopes to have the pleasure of meeting Miss J. S. R.

MISS L. E. B.

Free Bridge Approaches.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why block up Chouteau avenue with the bridge approaches, thus destroying the principal street of South St. Louis, instead of buying the right-of-way through the property between streets and retaining the streets or necessary thoroughfare? It seems a very narrow-minded policy to destroy Chouteau avenue because it might cost a dollar or two less than to condemn private property, and even this is doubtful, because if the street is blocked and filled up by the approaches, the adjoining property is entitled to damages. Suppose the Eads Bridge occupied Washington avenue up to about Eighth street, would not the property on every side be damaged, and would its value, in fact, be not almost entirely destroyed? C.

Folk's Pardon Record.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There is a doubt in my mind as to whether or not those who find fault with Gov. Folk in regard to his pardon record really understand the cases referred to. I am personally acquainted with Mr. Mosby and think Gov. Folk made a wise choice. I trust our new Governor and his attorney are close akin to them in this present administration. No doubt there are many difficulties in dealing with such cases. Sometimes judges and prosecuting attorneys and even jurors find they have been mistaken. What then? Must the wrong man suffer? Should those men be ironclad? Why have a pardon attorney or why give the Governor this authority at all? If they are not capable of reasoning and allowed to act according to this criticism? The best of us make mistakes. Let those without mistakes throw the first stone.

Our Invisible Watch-Dogs.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The death of Jobusch by highwaymen recalls to my mind a warning sent out by the police of the North Market Street Station about a week ago, advising all residents in that district, viz: The section bounded by Cass, St. Louis and Jefferson avenues, to make as much noise as possible upon detecting a burglar, thereby increasing the efficiency of the department. Robberies, assaults, etc., have been happening so merrily of late that we have just about decided to call upon the police, but have been unable to locate them, therefore, would kindly ask the editor of the Post-Dispatch give us the location of the officers.

A RESIDENT OF THE VICINITY.

Defense of Non-Voters.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Why does the fact that he doesn't vote make a person who has the power to vote unworthy of that privilege? I can see no right reason in disfranchising a non-voter. Too many people vote. When a man does not understand the issue at stake or when he has no preference in the matter, he only wastes his time and the time of the authorities by voting. A voter should study conditions and how they could be bettered, and then he thinks his ballot will help matters. All classes should have the ballot to use as they see fit. It means a certain amount of power and protection to the individual. It would be impossible always to know how to use it in each instance. It is well, at times, not to use it and to allow those who understand affairs to vote, allowing them to represent the non-voter. Freedom ought not to be thrust down the throat of any person, but should be given all. G. A. M.

She Is Watching You!

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have read all the letters sent to you by your readers in regard to stenographers and wives, and I think that most of them are unjust, as I was a stenographer myself before I married. There is, without comparison, more danger in the waitresses of restaurants. A few days ago I considered myself very happy and now I am the most miserable creature living. When I married I did not have any objection to my husband eating lunch at a restaurant close to his office, but a few days ago I noticed that he was getting colder and colder toward me, and I decided to find out what was the cause, so I kept my eyes open, and what was my surprise to see him going to the show with one of the waitresses of the restaurant where he used to eat? I have not decided what to do yet, but surely it will be something awful if he does not reform. Mr. Editor, I write this letter to you hoping that you will publish it and give the benefit of my experience to your feminine readers. Also that the owners of restaurants and officers may be more careful about this tremendous peril. A MISERABLE WIFE.

WILL THEY BE PALS?

MORE LESE MAJESTY.

Senator Rayner's Query.

From the Bufalo Times—Dem.

When Senator Rayner of Maryland tried to force the administration into the open regarding the libel proceedings against the editors of the New York World and the Indianapolis News, he acted in the line of a duty as urgent as any which could possibly be required of the Senate at this time. The Maryland Senator's initiative took the form of a resolution embodying two questions: First, is Attorney-General Bonaparte acting under the orders of the President of the United States? Second, if so, what warrant of law have the President and the Attorney-General for what they are doing?

To say that these inquiries are eminently proper, are absolutely pertinent, is to fall far short of expressing the real necessities of the case. * * *

So gross an invasion of legal rights as they are understood by the modern community sets the seal on the impressiveness of Senator Rayner's statement regarding "sedition" laws in general:

"If there is no such law, then I want the Attorney-General to say so. If there is such a law, then I want him to point to the statute so that we can repeal it."

An Unprecedented Prosecution.

From the Wheeling Intellingencer—Rep.

It is difficult to attach serious import to the prosecution which the Government seeks to bring against the New York World. No such prosecution has ever before been attempted in the history of the American Republic. * * *

There is not a rogue in office in this or any other civilized land who does not fear more than anything else the voice of the press. There is not a scoundrel in Government, State or municipal service who does not seek wherever and whenever possible to stifle the voice of the press. * * *

The World's statements concerned an important public matter. If its statements were true, and they have not yet been shown to be untrue, The World was performing a great public duty in calling attention to them. Until the charges are completely controverted it cannot be said that the American people, who after all are the parties most interested in the controversy, have had all the light to which they are entitled. Is it not the better course to investigate these charges thoroughly and show their groundlessness rather than to rush into court to stay the mouths of the accusers?

Some Interesting Questions.

From the Boston Herald—Ind.

Mr. Douglas Robinson is said to have "consented" to appear as complainant in libel proceedings against the New York World. But why Mr. Douglas Robinson? The President advised Congress that the prosecution of this case should not be left to private citizens, and in obedience to executive orders the Attorney-General's office has been searching musty law books and preparing the case. Why does Mr. Robinson complain at this late day? Was he the original complainant? And if he was, by what power or privilege did he command the United States Government to stand in his stead and the machinery of its law department to go to the extreme of constitutional practice for his service?

To Muzzle the Press.

From the Montgomery Advertiser—Dem.

As The World says, the President is prosecuting that newspaper for the truths it has told about Theodore Roosevelt. Whether the statements made by The World and the Indianapolis News are accurate in all their details and specifications may or may not ever be fully made known, but Roosevelt's animus is plain and his purpose is no less so. He is trying to use his own power as President, and the power of the Government also, to muzzle the press and to abolish the right of free speech in this country.

Lysistrata II.

COMEDY AFTER ARISTOPHANES, BY CLARK McADAMS.

ACT I.

Lysistrata II: Dear me! Is this all the women we can get out to a temperance meeting?

First Sister: This is as many women as you can get out to anything but a matinee.

Second Sister: And half of us are here in defiance of our husbands.

Third Sister: Is your husband against prohibition, too? To save me I can't see where they get the men to vote for it down South!

All the Sisters: My husband says—we cook ours about 20 minutes—stopped for her, but she said she—goodness, no!—the day we went to the Merry Wid—so glad to see you. How—boil it first, and then—most outlandish thing I ever—can't even have mince pie because it has brand—indeed I—at my bridge—

Lys. II: Ladies—ladies—please! How are we to transact any business if we all talk at once?

First Sister: We were trying to talk liquor to death.

Lys. II: Well, we can't do it. If we could, we wouldn't be here this afternoon to discuss ways and means of raising money for the Anti-Saloon League. Has anyone thought of anything?

Second Sister: You know we haven't. What have you thought of?

Lys. II: I think I have a very nimble scheme.

All (eagerly): What is it?

Lys. II: Some of our husbands—not all, of course—occasionally drink too much.

First Sister: Paraphasing what you said just a moment ago, if some of them didn't, we wouldn't be here this afternoon.

Lys. II: Exactly. Now, I suggest that when our husbands do drink too much it will be no more than fair if we take what money they have left when they finally do get home and give it to the Anti-Saloon League.

All (clapping their hands): Good! Hurrah for the President of our auxiliary!

First Sister: They'll think they spent it, anyway.

(Cheers.)

ACT II.

(Lysistrata at Breakfast With Her Husband.)

He: Have you been out already this morning?

She: Out to the mail box.

He: The mail box!

She: Yes. To post a letter.

He: It must have been a kind of a telegram-letter.

She: It was. It had $9 in it that I wanted the Anti-Saloon League to get before you missed it.

He: Before I missed it?

She: Yes. When you got home this morning, I found $9 in your purse. I suppose that was what you had left out of fifty. At any rate, I sent it to the Anti-Saloon League.

He: To the Anti-Saloon League!

She: Yes. All the women in our auxiliary are doing it. We're going to make our husbands furnish the sinews of war for the temperance fight when they don't know they are doing it.

He: And how much have I contributed?

She: Sixteen dollars and forty cents.

He: Sixteen dollars and forty cents,

She: Yes. Nine dollars this morning, and $7.40 the night you came home in a taxicab.

He: What! Is it possible that someone has initiated one of those taxicabs?

She: I think you and Mr. Perry did the night of the banquet. Are you mad?

He (grinning like a Billiken): Mad! How could I be mad? It serves us right.

ACT III.

(At the Next Meeting.)

THIRD SISTER: Where is Lysistrata?

First Sister: I guess her husband has been sober all month, and she is ashamed to come around.

Second Sister: Not if my husband told me the truth he hasn't been sober all month.

Fourth Sister: Why, it was he that kept my husband out last Friday night until he had to walk clear to Cabanne!

First Sister: Aren't there any suburban owl cars in this city?

Lysistrata II. (entering): Who did better than sixteen-forty?

All: Sixteen-for—Goodness, how her husband must dri—woke up while I was going through his pock—couldn't do it—honor bright, a $20 bill—and a blue hat, O, the most beau—didn't dare tell him, though—said they were moving—with Neuchaftel cheese—couldn't find a cen—

Lys. II: Ladies—ladies—please!

First Sister: Can't we even tell our adventures?

Lys. II: How shall we know what our adventures were if we all tell them at once? How much money have we raised?

First Sister: I have the honor to report that my husband swore off the first of the year, and he hasn't resumed yet.

Third Sister: I sent in over $30, but my husband missed it, and it made him so mad that he sent $50 to the other side.

Fourth Sister: Ten dollars.

Fifth Sister: I've searched my husband's clothes three times, and he has never yet had a single cent left.

First Sister: He must get a pickpocket to bring him home.

Lys. II: What is the total?

Treasurer: Two hundred and eighty-one dollars and seventy cents for the whole auxiliary.

Lys. II: Good! That will send a county dry!

All:

Water—water! H 2 O!
Set the bar-rooms in a row—
Knock them high and knock them low!
Whoopee! Collect

The court favorite appealed to the King, and the British Solomon replied: "Steenie, Steenie, those who live in glass houses should be careful how they fling stanes."

The Last Voyage of the Donna Isabel

A Sea Tale Full of Fight

By RANDALL PARRISH

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.—Jack Stephens, an American seaman, becomes involved in a bootless revolution in Chile and flies to Valparaiso. While waiting for some means of escaping from the city he saves a lady who is with the Earl of Darlington from the unwelcome attentions of a drunken Chilean naval officer, Sanchez. He learns that her name is Doris. Later a burly South American asks for a private conference, and offers him a commission in the Peruvian Navy. He is to steal the Chilean cruiser Esmeralda, then lying in the harbor of Valparaiso. Stephens accepts, and is sent to meet his crew which is in rendezvous at Rederiqui's drinking place, a wharf den. Capt. Eli Tuttle is to be his first officer.

Capt. Eli Tuttle.

"CAPTAIN Eli Tuttle?" I questioned doubtfully.

The older man slowly deposited his feet on the floor, and stood up. He

The older man slowly deposited his feet on the floor, and stood up. He was a trifle round-shouldered, attired in a black frock coat which dangled to the knees, and his eyes of cold gray narrowed into mere slits as he inspected me with undisguised suspicion.

"The spirit which for 70 years hath made answer to that earthly name still abideth within this fleshly body," he responded solemnly, in a voice seemingly from the very pit of his stomach. "I am still permitted to sail the seas, thus known to the children of men, awaiting in patience the hour of translation."

To be greeted thus in such a spot stunned me for the instant, my cheeks flushing as I read undisguised amusement in the upturned face of the creole. My teeth shut together hard.

"You are Eli Tuttle then, formerly master of the whaling bark Betsy?"

"Even so, young man," his lean face perfectly emotionless, his long fingers outspread flat on the table. "Eli Tuttle, of New Bedford, once the chief of sinners, but now communing with the higher life of the spirit world. Associate me not with yonder ungodly crew, blind to the truth of the beyond," and he snapped his fingers softly toward the closed door. "In this world saints and sinners must indeed mingle bodily, yet not in any communion of spirit. It was for peaceful meditation that friend De Nova and I deserted yonder scene of revelry, and sought this secluded spot. Truly the good Book saith that where one or two are gathered together in His name there is He also in the midst of them."

The creole laughed outright, smiting the table smartly with his palm.

"Sit down, mate!" he exclaimed genially, kicking up a chair. "After you know sis ol' hypocrite as well as I do, his communion viz spirits won't bozzer you much. Help yourself to drink, an' wash the taste out you' mouth."

Tuttle wheeled about and stared at his companion, his thin jaw working savagely; but the creole went on rolling a cigarette indifferently between his brown fingers, his white teeth gleaming. I remained standing, my hand on the back of the chair, intently studying the pair.

"I come directly from Don Castillo," I said, quietly facing the Yankee, and determined to get down to business, "and desire to speak with you alone."

His glinting eyes narrowed perceptibly, and his jaws crunched down upon the tobacco in his cheek.

"'Tis safe enough with him," he acknowledged rather ungraciously, his voice becoming nasal as he pointed his chin beard toward the other. "De Nova is second officer."

I drew back the chair, and sat down, realizing that I now possessed the attention of both.

"I have been appointed to assume Capt. Castelar's duties," I announced quietly. "Do either of you care to examine my papers?"

Tuttle spat silently into the sawdust, while De Nova exhibited his white teeth in a grin. The eyes of the two men met.

"I rather guess your papers won't cut much ice in this yere affair," returned the former with deliberate insolence, "being as how we don't either of us give a tinker's dam' fer Peru, if you'll pardon my sayin' so plainly."

His mask had disappeared as by magic, and I realized instantly the real nature of the man.

"You mean no enlistment has been made, either by you, or the men under you?"

"That's just about the size of it, mister," his tone full of unconcealed contempt, his leg flung once again over the arm of the chair. "We agreed to do this one particular job fer a certain consideration, but we're none of us Peruvian sailormen, and consequently don't give a hang for your papers. Ain't that about it, De Nova?"

The Creole nodded, still smiling pleasantly, the blue smoke curling lazily up from the end of his cigarette. Evidently the two were actively engaged in taking my measure, and this was to be a case of man against man, rather than the exercise of any delegated authority. I might as well throw my commission into the fire for any real value it possessed here. All right; I had met and attended to their kind before.

"I am delighted to understand the situation so clearly and quickly," I said sharply, throwing a note of authority into my voice and manner. "It simplifies my task. Now listen to me, Mr. Tuttle," giving him his formal title, "and you likewise, De Nova. I probably care as little for those papers as either of you, but, nevertheless, I am in command. Do you both clearly comprehend that?—I am in command! It will be just as well for you not to attempt any horse play. I am no dago sea officer, but a North American sailor, and I didn't come crawling into my first ship through a cabin window. I've tamed mutinous crews before now, and when I'm up against sea scum I can hit as hard as the next fellow. If either of you desire to test my qualities as a buckomate, I'm here to accommodate you."

Neither answered, but I read their conclusion in their eyes.

"That's all I need to say now," I went on. "It's up to you to fish, or cut bait. You fellows have nothing to gain by opposing me, and I hope you possess sense enough to know it. De Nova, where have I ever met you before?"

The Creole's face instantly brightened again, his white teeth gleaming under the black mustache.

"So monsieur remember," he lisped gently, leaning forward on the table. "I thought maybe you forget altogether 'bout zat time. But I know you at once w'en you come in. It make me laugh to see zis Yankee try bait you like you was a dago steamboater. Bah, I know you all right for sailorman; I know you do business."

"But I am unable to place you."

"No, not yet; maybe you will w'en I say more." He spoke rapidly, gesticulating with excitement. "It was a little ship off Hatteras; ze storm five days, an' all wreck. It was a steamer, w'ite, wiss red stacks, zat took off ze crew, an' it was hell of a job. Zat was ze story, monsieur; I was mate of ze Cymbeline."

I knew him then instantly, my memory picturing anew the cold, gray dawn, the green, angry seas, the helpless, sodden hulk heaving sickeningly to its death, and those water-drenched forms we hauled over the sinking rail into our tossing boat. Lord, it was a vivid sea picture, not to be blotted out in a year or two! I held forth my hand, and his brown fingers, hard as iron, closed over it in a grip to be felt.

"Sure, it's come back, mate," I said. "I rather guess I can count on you."

His dark eyes met mine in frank honesty.

"Running arms for the Cuban revolutionists then, weren't you?" I asked indifferently. "What since?"

He shrugged his shoulders, glancing across at Tuttle, and fingering his mustache.

"Sacre! It has been as ze devil drove," easily. "Ze last was sandalwood in ze South Seas. I care little, so ze pay be good."

"Then we will get down to facts," and I sat back in the chair fronting the two of them. "Mr. Tuttle, how many men have you enlisted for this affair?"

"Twenty."

"Those fellows out yonder?" and I nodded toward the closed door. He exhibited his yellow teeth, his eyes narrowing.

"They'll be about all ye'll want to tackle, I guess," he volunteered, with some assumption of cheerfulness, "unless maybe you decide to turn this expedition into piracy, an' give 'em half the spoils. They're that sort, all right."

I straightened back in my chair, my jaws set hard, my gaze endeavoring vainly to catch and hold his shifty eye.

"Mr. Tuttle," I said sternly, "as I understand matters I am captain this cruise, and you're mate. Whenever I desire your advice I'll probably ask for it. Just at present please confine yourself to my questions. What crew have you?"

The expression of his face was angry enough, yet he evidently thought best to answer civilly.

"First and second officers, boatswain and gunner, five coal heavers, the rest seamen."

"Nationality?"

"Every mongrel race under the sky."

"You have no engineer?"

He shook his head negatively.

"Couldn't pick up any; however, there's one on board, and, no doubt, we can persuade him to stick to the job."

The man's manner and tone remained surly and insolent, but I gripped my indignation and held back the hot words burning my tongue. It was necessary that I make the best of it now, but after we were once safely at sea I intended very shortly to take the measure of this Yankee whaleman. I watched him a moment silently, as he leaned back in his chair, with long, thin legs sprawled out, his lean jaws crunching at the tobacco in his cheek. My eyes wandered toward the olive-tinted face of De Nova, barely visible through the envelopmg smoke of his cigarette. The latter nodded cheerfully, as though he interpreted my thought.

"Oh, ze men was all right, monsieur," he put in smilingly. "Maybe a bit rough, but, sacre, w'at would you?" his shoulders rising to the question. "Mr. Tuttle, he grumble, but it was all bark. I know him, an' I razzer have him so zan hear him talk to ze spirits; w'en he do zat, it make me sick, by gar!"

"You blaspheming, mongrel infidel," the whaleman's nasal voice rising shrill with anger. "I don't have to count beads in order to lift my soul to the other world."

"There is liable to be fighting enough before morning," I interposed sharply, fearing a quarrel, "without comrades falling out about their belief. Leave that for lubbers ashore to argue over. Now tell me what arrangements have been made for boarding the Esmeralda?"

Tuttle spat into the sawdust, his gaze still on De Nova.

"Two boats concealed beneath the piling of the Mercantile Co.'s coal wharf; a whaleboat and a cutter."

"Any arms?"

"A dozen rifles, six to each boat."

I arose to my feet, glancing at my watch in the dim light. He had not given me the customary "sir" in any of his replies, yet I ignored the omission, willing for the time being to sink formality for the sake of action.

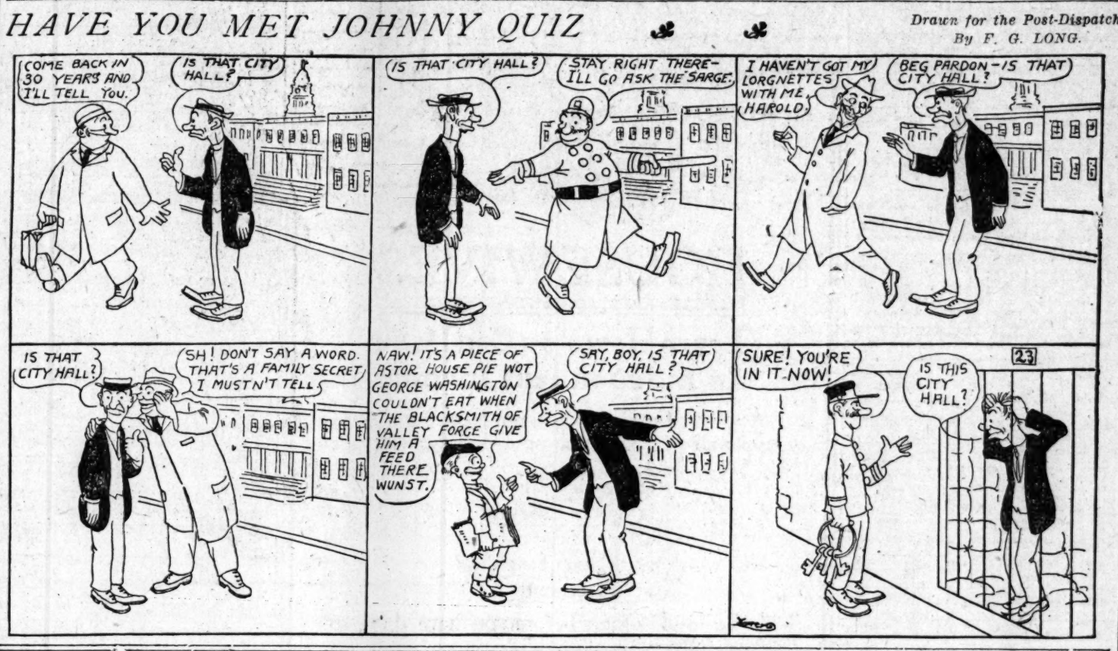

"Very well, Mr. Tuttle. Have your men there in an hour from now. They had better travel in parties of two; and see that they start out sober. You understand these orders clearly, I hope, sir;—have them there in an hour, sober. De Nova, you must know how to bring sailor-men to their senses; get busy with that gang. Now work rapidly and quietly, both of you; for if we get caught, this is likely to be a hanging matter for all of us."

I stared at the two of them for just an instant—De Nova on his feet, Tuttle leaning forward in his chair—and stepped forth into the outer room, closing the door behind me. A drunken yell greeted my re-entrance into the boisterous crowd; but ignoring everything, glancing neither to right nor left, I picked my way through the motley gathering out into the welcome blackness of the night.

LETTERS FROM LOVERS.

Jane Carlyle's Wooing and Letters Contributed in the Competition for Post-Dispatch Prizes

BY POST-DISPATCH READERS.

JANE WELSH, of whom Carlyle spoke as a mere circumstance of his lot, and who became such after marriage, seems to have foreseen that a man of his character could hardly develop that quality of human nature which makes marriage truly successful. When Thomas Carlyle first proposed she refused him in the following language:

"My friend, I love you—I repeat it, though I find the expression a rash one. All the best feelings in my nature are concerned in loving you. But were you my brother, I should love you the same. No! Your friend I will be, your truest, most devoted friend, but your wife never! Never! Not though you were as rich as Croesus, as honored and renowned as you yet shall be!"

Carlyle at first accepted this decision, saying that his heart was "too old by half a score of years, and made of sterner stuff than to break in junctures of this kind. But the correspondence continued, and Miss Welsh was at length won over. Just before the marriage she wrote him:

"Oh, my dearest friend, be always so good to me, and I shall make the best and happiest wife! When I read in your looks and words that you love me, then I care not one straw for the whole universe besides. But when you fly from me to smoke tobacco, or speak of me as a mere circumstance of your lot, then, indeed, my heart is troubled about many things."

It will not be wondered at that this loving woman was thus perturbed, when we are told that her Thomas prepared himself for the wedding by a careful study of Kant's Critique of Pure Reason.

LOVE LETTERS,
POST-DISPATCH.

Below are love letters submitted by Post-Dispatch readers:

After Years of Waiting.

CLEVELAND, O., May 15, 1896.

My Dear Agnes:

YOUR ever-welcome and sweet letter just received, and I hasten to answer. Never in my life, dearie, have I experienced so much joy, nor did I ever dream that anything could give me so much pleasure as your dear words of affection and encouragement. What a genius you are, my dear, how courageous, brave and hopeful.

You are my life, my soul, and your great love has remodeled my mind and made me over into another and new being, so that now I feel that no labors or obstacles can be too great or insurmountable for me to overcome; you are the power that has made me greater than any circumstance that I may have to contend with. I want to be worthy of you and your great love, for you are the light of my soul.

It has been nearly three years, my dear, since I took leave of you—oh! how long that has been and how much longer it seems; how wearily the months, days, aye the "hours" have seemed, and how I have had to sum up all the "will power" in me to remain here and not fly to you! What a battle of my mind! I wonder, after all, that I still possess all my faculties. Those dreary hours spent here so far from you, the dread that my long absence might cause you to forget me. The horrid dreams I had of losing you (such as that you were marrying another) that usually was followed with ennui, and the fear, always the fear of losing you, my darling—how my brain would whirl!—but the cure, I always carried my remedy with me in the form of your dear letters—how I would read over and over again, devour every word and nourish my starving, aching heart with your dear words of love and encouragement! how stimulating and how you spur me on to keep my promise to you and your father, to make good. You say it is hard and trying for you, my dear; that you find more and greater pleasure in writing and telling me how you love me, than in any other sort of amusement. Well, darling, I can find pleasure nowhere and in nothing, when I am not busy at my work I evade everyone and everything that suggest amusement of any description. You know the pleasure that it affords me to write to you from the unusual length of my letters, aside from which I find pleasure with my thoughts, which are always of you, Mamie.

When I think how mentally strong you are, I blush for shame at my own weakness, then again when I read your letter, every letter from you seemed to renew my energy and make me more determined to be worthy of you. When everything seemed to go wrong and it looked as though I could not hold out another minute, you, my dear, would appear to me in a vision, my love, like a ministering angel you would send the blood coursing through me and I held on to my helm and steered my ship safely into the harbor. Could you but know what your great love means to me. Did more young girls possess just a little of your wisdom, how much sorrow and unhappiness might be avoided.

You ask if I recall my promise to your father? I should say I do. You were very wise, as well as dutiful, my dear, and I revere in your firmness, how you disapproved and discouraged my suggestion of elopement. You were 19 then and I just 21. Do you remember how anxiously we were waiting for my maturity, all the things we had planned? How unconcernedly your father shattered all our hopes? He disapproved our marriage on the ground that you were too young, and, turning to me, he said: "And you! good for nothing, without visible means of even supporting yourself half decently, how in h——l did you expect to support a wife?" I don't recall whether I was frozen or overheated (guess I was both, because beads of perspiration stood on my brow and my feet were "cold"). What a blow to my vanity! And to think, I had saved $45 from a year's wages to get married on, and had on my twenty-first birthday my wages raised $2 a week, so that I was then earning $12 per. I thought that I was well prepared to provide for a wife then, and so did you. No visible means; those were cruel words then, my dear, and how I hated him for them, if it had been from anyone else but your dad—well——. But you were right to obey your father, my dear, and I also love him now and can see his wisdom, of course, I thought then that he did not know.

But I have made good, sweet one, and shall soon return to once more plead my troth and prove to your obstinate, but nevertheless wise dad that his suggestion was well taken and claim my reward. It is only a matter of six weeks until I take my vacation and will again hold you in my arms. How anxious I am, I don't see how I can wait; it will seem an age.

It's all right, though, to have waited, if you are the fruit of my labors and my reward. Nearly three years, just think of it, and I am soon to be with you. Be patient, dearie. I may tell "you" to be, even though I am not. I shall wait for a long letter from my darling. Wishing you peace and much love, from Your HARRY.

After Brief Absence.

My Own Little Girl:

Perhaps you wonder why I am writing you when we were together only last night and will see each other again before many hours have passed, but I cannot refrain, dearest, from transferring a few of my thoughts—which are all of you—to paper for your dear eyes to read. It was but a few short hours ago that you told me you returned my love, but I knew I could not be mistaken—that the light from your eyes could not lie—and the belief that you loved me and were waiting for me has been the bright star that has guided and upheld me during the three long, weary years—years, however, which now do not seem so hard and dreary, because they have brought me such measure of success as has permitted me to ask you to become my wife. For I loved you too much in the old days to want you to endure the unceasing toil of a poor man's wife, even had I not known that comfort and happiness surrounded you and that wealth and its pleasures were being held out for your acceptance. But you waited, and God grant that I may be worthy of that greatest of all blessings—a true woman's love!

And, dear, the sweetest thought to me is the confession from your lips that you waited, not knowing, only hoping and believing, that I loved you, and that you would as willingly have shared poverty with me then as comfort and ease now! Such love is worth a lifetime of toil.

Till evening; then I shall be with you again.

Yours, ever and always, H. J.

Told in Verse.

Light of My Life:

There is a passion that doth sometimes rage
In human hearts, and 'tis called love. To some
It proves a curse. Thus 'tis to me. Ah, me!
E'er since I first beheld thy 'trancing face,
And gazed into thy soul through thy clear eyes,
It hath been mine accursed fate to love
Thee more than life. Yes, 'tis so great, this love
For thee, and strong, that I would sacrifice
All hope of fame among my fellowmen.
Ambition, strongest vice in human breast,
For this have men laid down their lives—nay, more,
They've waded to their necks in crimson gore
And bartered their eternal souls away.
But, were I ruler of ten thousand spheres,
Did I possess a million worlds more rich
Than this made wealthiest by your precious weight,
I'd lay them at thy feet and then myself
Kneel down before thee in humility
As deep as hers who knelt before our Lord
And washed with tears and wiped with hair his feet.

Thus much to give expression to the depth
Of feeling that is pressing at my heart.
Now, if thou couldst be willing—after years—
If I had labored hard and won a name—
Then, if thou wouldst be willing, I would come
And join the host of suitors for thy hand.
If this thou sayest, then am I content;
But, if thou feel for me no spark of love.
Then tell it me, and I'll retire from life
And bless the mem'ry of at least one woman
Who, though she lives in this vile world, is pure.
Now, pray for me, O Gladys! O my love!
That I may be forgiven this great sin,
Of loving thee more than I love my God!

An Excellent Recipe for Obstinate Coughs

An obstinate cough is about as disagreeable an ailment as a person could have, and has many dangerous features. The battle with such an aggravation can be won within a few hours by utilizing the simple home recipe given below. Since it was first recommended many have tried it with surprisingly prompt results. The recipe is worth saving.

Granulated Sugar Syrup..... 13½ oz.
Pinex ..... 2½ oz.

Take a pint of Granulated Sugar, add one-half cup water, stir and let boil just a moment. Put the 2½ oz. of Pinex in a pint bottle and fill it up with the syrup. Shake well and take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours. Well corked, it keeps perfectly.

The slight cost of preparing this simple recipe recommends it, in addition to its unequaled merits as a cough and cold killer. The Granulated Sugar used will cost you about 4 cents and the Pinex 50 cents. The recipe makes a full pint of cough syrup, enough to last a long time. The same amount of ready made cough syrup would cost you about $2.50.

It is not hard to understand the effectiveness of this simply remedy when the curative qualities of the ingredients are explained. The Syrup is an excellent sedative. Pinex is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway White Pine Extract, and contains all the natural elements which make the air of the pine forests so effective in curing membrane diseases.

In making this remedy at home, do not expect good results by using any of the weaker pine oils or pine tar preparations. Get the real Pinex itself. If your druggist does not have it, he will gladly get it for you if you ask him.

This home-made article is also splendid for pains in the chest, whooping cough, hoarseness, bronchial affections and other throat troubles. * * *

OTHER LATE MARKET REPORTS

WHEAT IS AGAIN ON THE UPTURN

Market Appears Oversold and Prices Advance Readily Under Scattered Short Covering.

Bulls in the local wheat market, having refrained from loosening their grasp on long holdings during the decline of the previous day, had things rather their own way during Wednesday's session. There is still nothing new or of particular interest in the news and trading was again on a small scale. Shorts covered their recent sales in a general manner and the congested offerings which were noticeable yesterday became more pronounced today when the evening up purchases began to develop, prices scoring good gains early in the day. Nothing important transpired subsequent to this, but somewhat higher levels were maintained. The close was at gains of ½@⅝c for the day.

The weather is very favorable for winter wheat and for the movement of the finer grain, reports from all over the belt telling of encouraging conditions. This would seem to indicate an increase in the primary receipts before long, but right now arrivals at all points are very light. Stocks as a result of the small receipts in all positions, continue to decrease, and this, together with the steady cables, caused a firm opening. Prices at Liverpool were ⅛d to ⅜d higher early and closed unchanged, a steady response to the previous decline on this side. The market, after opening somewhat higher, hesitated in a nervous manner for a while, the good crop prospects causing some caution among traders on the buying side.

It soon became evident, however, that the lack of offerings was going to be a very potent factor in the market, the tight attitude of the large bulls leaving the pit practically devoid of wheat for sale. There is still quite a good demand for the better grades of cash wheat and the flour trade is reported to be showing some improvement. Fair export sales of durum and Manitoba wheat were again claimed from the Northwest and Winnipeg, in addition to which as a bullish force there were very serious damage reports from Russia. After fair advances had been scored trading fell away to very small proportions. Prices settled down to almost a standstill and toward noon the market was very dull, though the higher levels were maintained.

May wheat opened ¼c higher, at $1.07¼, declined to $1.07¼, advanced to $1.08⅜@1.08½ and sagged to $1.08@1.08⅛. July wheat opened unchanged at 96c, advanced to 96⅝c and was offered at 96½c.

Budapest wheat closed ⅝c higher, Antwerp wheat unchanged and Berlin wheat ⅜c lower.

Minneapolis stocks decreased 25,000 bu for four days. Minneapolis cars were 176 against 183 last year, Duluth 9 against 55 last year, and Winnipeg 66 against 159 last year.

The late trading was fairly active and general. Prices moved slowly however, there being little demand further than to absorb the scattering long liquidation among small holders. Reports from Argentine are to the effect that the exportable surplus estimates are being further reduced and that dealers there are repurchasing contracts freely. This, added to the strong situation in the pit and the bullish attitude of most of the traders, supported prices during the latter part of the session. The late range was narrow and the close was somewhat below the high point, but was steady at good net gains.

May wheat closed at $2.08@1.08⅛ sellers and July wheat at 96½c. Cash wheat ruled firm. Seaboard clearances of wheat and flour for the day were equal to 270,000 bu.

Primary receipts of wheat were 360,777 bu, with shipments of 212,131 bu, and local receipts were 25,000 bu, with shipments of 29,860 bu.

Needs for a Dress Suit or a Frock Suit will come thick and fast during this month of February—the very best month of the year to have a Dress Suit, Tuxedo or Frock Suit made, since it is the month when the sewing tailors have the most time to take the most "pains."
Of course, as only the best should suit you in a Formal Occasion, you want to have your Dress Suit or Frock Suit bear the MacCarthy-Evans-Von Arx label.

Post-Dispatch's Complete Daily Record of Markets and Finance

MOVEMENTS ARE VERY NARROW ON N. Y. EXCHANGE

Trading Practically at a Standstill; C. & O. Closes Strong.

NEW YORK, Feb. 3, 12:30 p. m.—Extreme dullness prevailed throughout the forenoon, and as a result fluctuations were narrow. Price movements were irregular, gains and losses being about equal. Anaconda ¼, Amalgamated ⅛, and Steel common ⅜ point. Lead, Steel preferred and People's Gas advanced ¼ each. Smelting and Consolidated Gas were unchanged. Atchison, B. & O., Illinois Central and Pennsylvania advanced ⅛ each; New York Central ¼, St. Paul ⅛, Rock Island preferred ⅜, and Chicago-Northwestern 1⅝. There were only a few sales recorded in the last-named stock. Northern Pacific and Brooklyn Rapid Transit made average declines of ⅜ point.

Great Northern, Missouri Pacific, Reading, Wabash preferred and the Harriman Pacifics were unchanged.

The American Tobacco Co. declared its regular quarterly dividend, and an extra dividend of 5 per cent, payable March 1, to stockholders of record Feb. 13.

The extent of the trading can be judged by the fact that the total sales to noon amounted to only 203,200 shares.

A general advance in prices was made at the opening of the stock market today.

Only a few of the prominent issues receded from the closing figures, the losses in each instance being fractional. Consolidated Gas opened at its low point of Tuesday, which represented an opening loss of ¾ point. Steel preferred, which was ex-dividend of 1¾ per cent, was ⅛ off, and Lead was unchanged.

The copper stocks were very strong in the initial sales, Anaconda gaining ⅞, Smelting 1 and A. C. P. 1⅛ points. Steel common advanced ¼ and Pacific Mail ⅛. Cotton Oil moved up ⅞ and Utah Copper was 1⅜ above its close on the first transaction.

In the rails division, Atchison and St. Paul declined ¼ each, and Pennsylvania receded a small fraction also.

B. R. T. advanced ¼, New York Central ⅜, Northern Pacific ½, Canadian Pacific and Wabash preferred ⅝ each, Missouri Pacific and Louisville & Nashville ¾ each, Reading, Rock Island preferred, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific ⅛ point each. B. & O. and Great Northern were at parity. At the end of the first half hour the market had fractionally receded from the opening.

The Harriman Pacifics declined ⅛ each, Wabash preferred, New York Central, Erie and C. & O. ¼ each, and B. R. T. and Missouri Pacific ½ each. L. & N. gained ¾, and Rock Island preferred, which was very active, advanced nearly 1 point. All the Industrial stocks were practically unchanged and dull, except Amalgamated Copper.

Americans in London quiet and rather above parity.

SEXTON BOOM BLOWS UP AND HE'S DESERTED

The political atmosphere in East St. Louis was not cleared by the announcement Tuesday night of a new ticket in the field under the caption of the Good Government party, which was to be led by Stephen D. Sexton for Mayor. The new boom blew up Wednesday morning, when the other candidates on the ticket disavowed their connection with the movement.

It was explained that the boom was launched at the Elks' Club, when Mr. Sexton proposed a toast to "The Next Mayor of East St. Louis," and pointed to himself. His running mates, announced by himself, were: For City Clerk, Charles Lambert; City Treasurer, Herman Thoene; City Attorney, T. L. Fekete Jr.; Assessor, C. G. Derleth.

Mr. Lambert and Mr. Thoene said Wednesday morning that they had not been told that a meeting was to be held and had not authorized their names to be used. It was announced that the new ticket would not be in the field unless several important changes were made in the line-up.

Local Option Men Alert.

The local option workers have entered the political contest in a sort of advisory capacity. The leaders say they are willing and anxious to indorse the candidates who will openly pledge that existing laws concerning the sale of intoxicating liquors will be enforced. If no candidate for Mayor will make such a pledge without sidestepping, they say it is probable that a local option ticket will be nominated.

Tuesday night it was decided by the Republican City Central Committee not to place a Republican ticket in the field. The same action has been taken by the Democratic committee. At least, the members of the Democratic committee left the meeting without adjourning and no time has been specified for another meeting.

The Progressive party will meet Friday night and an effort will be made to combine with the proposed Business Men's ticket.

The official notices of the primary to be held Feb. 23 have been issued. Eugene Wright is the only candidate before the primary up to date. All tickets not nominated by the primary will have to file nominating petitions.

PRACTICAL MEN ARE WANTED TO HEAD LIGHTING CONCERNS

Directors of Laclede Gas and Union Electric Search for Business Experts.

Practical men, skilled in the engineering and commercial features of the gas and electric-light business, will be elected to head the Laclede Gas Light Co. and the Union Electric Light and Power Co. The directors of the North American Co. are seeking men for the presidency of these corporations who will be to them what Capt. Robert McCulloch will be to the United Railways Co. in the capacity of president and general manager.

James Campbell, a director of the North American Co., told a Post-Dispatch reporter that the plan to place practical men, who understand both the commercial and engineering ends of the electrical and gaslight business at the head of the two corporations, has been agreed upon.

"At the meetings of the boards of the Laclede Gas Light Co. and the Union Electric Light and Power Co., within perhaps a month, new presidents of the companies will be elected," said Mr. Campbell. "I do not know who will be selected for these important positions, but we want men who will live in St. Louis and mix with the people.

"It is important that the new men should know how to meet the public in the commercial departments of the business, as well as to direct the engineering departments.

NATIVE CATTLE—There was a slow market. Most of the offerings ran to natives, with a fair sprinkling of fed Kansas steers. From the start the tendency was lower. Receipts elsewhere were generous, and local buyers took advantage of this fact. Calves held about steady with yesterday. Stock cattle were in light supply. In fact, more could have been handled had they been on sale. The proportion of fat beeves among the offerings of butcher cattle was larger than usual.

Shippers opened the market here taking light hogs on a basis 10c to 15c lower than yesterday's late close. Packers held back in the hope of forcing still further declines. Most of the sales made prior to noon looked fully 25c to 50c below Monday. Including holdovers the total supply of hogs on sale here today exceeded 20,000 head. Top was $6.50 and bulk of sales ranged $6.15 to $6.35.

MUTTON SHEEP.

46.... 97.... 5 00

HORSES AND MULES—There was a good active horse trade today. The supply for the auction was fair, but more horses than were offered could have been sold to advantage were they available. Both Southern and Eastern classes were wanted. There was a pretty good run of mules at the receiving barn. Trade in large fat animals showed some life, but little mules continued to drag a trifle. The East is taking fair supplies of big mules right at present. However, cotton mules have the best call.

INDEPENDENT STOCKYARDS.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 3, 1909.

CATTLE—A light supply on sale today, with the market again 10c to 15c lower than yesterday. Heifers $4 to $5.10, bulls $3.25 to $4, calves steady with $8 top.

HOGS—Again today with a liberal supply of hogs on sale, prices declined from 10c to 20c, and trading during the entire day was slow, as all the buyers were seeking a greater decline than commission men were willing to accept. The best butcher hogs, which were all light, sold at $6.25@6.35. There were no choice heavy hogs here. The lighter ones, weighing from 180 to 200 lbs., if pretty good went from $6.15 to $6.25, while light mixed ones sold from $5.90 to $6.10.

Best lights under 160 lbs. sold at $5.90, while the bulk of the good lights, weighing 115 to 135 lbs. went from $5.25 to $5.70. The close found some of the hogs still unsold, which are holding looking for a reaction in the market.

MONEY MARKETS

St. Louis Money Market.

There is a very quiet market for credits in St. Louis just now. The banks are not pressing their funds quite as perceptibly as was the case last week, yet they are eager for all attractive offerings of discount. The commercial paper market is swept bare of all desirable names and the supplies of even the fairly good class of discounts is such that continued plethoric conditions seem assured.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—Several million dollars were added to the deposits of the local banks during January and funds accumulated rapidly at the national banks. There is still talk among the national bankers about reducing or eliminating the interest rate allowed on country balances, in order to stem the tide of money flowing from the interior to this center, but they have taken no definite steps in that direction as yet. The trust companies are still carrying abnormal surpluses of loanable funds, but this class of banks seem to have fared better than the commercial institutions in the matter of keeping their funds employed.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 3.—The claim of Albert S. Bigelow that the attempt of Calumet & Hecla Co. to vote a large block of stock in the Osceola Consolidated Mining Co., a year ago, was an act in restraint of trade was denied by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today, the decision of the lower court in dismissing his suit being affirmed.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 3.—The Dominion Trust Co. has taken over the assets of the Imperial Trust Co., giving stock therefor. The company now has total cash assets of $557,300. The proposition to increase the capital to $1,000,000 is being considered.

Five Hundred Men Will Work for You

In Digging Gold In a $92,000,000 Gold Basin

All we want you to do is to send a post card or cut out the coupon at the corner of this advertisement, and mail it, and we will send you absolute proofs of the truth of this statement.

"Doubting Thomases" and hammer wielders the world over may say, "I have heard that story before," but this would be a great misrepresentation. Such a proposition as we offer has never been made in the history of mining.

We have reports of the Peruvian Government, supplemented by the bureau of American Republics, to back up this statement. We own outright the rich gold districts in Peru—the land of gold—where Pizarro found ingots and vessels and furnishings of such massive gold that several men could scarcely carry them.

In this extraordinary land, the richest of the gold-rich sections, is the Nosiniscato River valley. It contains by actual demonstration upwards of $182,000,000 in value of gold dust.

We own every dollar's worth of the ground containing these deposits, and, though we have been offered $1,500,000 outright for an interest by a rich syndicate, we prefer to develop it ourselves in conjunction with the public. Hence—

We Offer 500,000 Shares of Stock at $1 a Share

It Is Non-Assessable and Covered by the Most Remarkable Guarantee Ever Known

We Will Return Your Money and Give You Free Shares Within a Specified Reasonable Time

This free stock is a bonus to those keen enough to take advantage of this remarkable ground-floor opportunity. The sooner you act the bigger your percentage of stock. But you must be quick. No gold mining company ever before gave away stock gratuitously. None was so sure of such instant success that it could part with its shares as an inducement to inspire quick investment. Every day's delay means a corresponding loss in your dividends. Write this very minute.

We believe that the public will respond so readily that we can purchase the necessary dredges for mining this ourselves. There is no tunneling; no expensive stamping—simply placer mining—the product yielding from 10 cents to $20 per cubic yard in 2,800 sample assays taken at random over the property.

The Peruvian Government reports which we will send to you prove the truth of this. The extraordinary character of this investment can only be understood upon thorough investigation. We welcome this. Send at once for the literature on the subject, with sworn reports, affidavits and other vital points of interest covered.

YOUNG TELLS POLICE TO STOP DOWNTOWN CRIME

Captain Says There Has Been Altogether Too Many Burglaries of Business Houses.

TO TRY ALL DOORS

Highwaymen and Other Thieves Find Almost Open Field in Central District.

With Chief Creecy's threat of a 12-hour working day still hanging over their heads, policemen of the Central District were given another spur to effort in combating the swelling wave of downtown crime Wednesday when Capt. Young issued an order for closer attention to business houses.

Capt. Young's order, which contains the declaration that there have been "too many burglaries" downtown, came after a night of activity by burglars and highwaymen.

"In future," says Capt. Young's order, "sergeants and patrolmen must carefully examine doors of all business houses on their beats and precincts.

"There have been too many burglaries committed in downtown business houses, and the business men must have better protection."

Capt. Young's order is believed to have been caused by a letter of complaint received from a hide and tallow firm on North Main street, near Locust The firm wrote that there had been a half dozen attempts to break into its warehouse, and asked that policemen pay more attention to protecting the place.

John Droski, 23 years old, of 1403 North Seventh street, was assaulted by two men for the evident purpose of robbery in front of the Monohan flats, 1413 North Seventh street, Tuesday night. Droski was returning home from a saloon at 1415 North Seventh street when two men stopped him and asked for a match. While he was searching his pockets for one the men pounced upon him and beat him. His cries for help drove them away before they could take anything from him.

Burglars climbed the fire escape to get into the Edison Hotel at 109 North Eighteenth street Tuesday night. A gold watch and chain and some clothing were taken from the room of J. E. Jones of Jakins, Ga., on the second floor, and clothing was stolen from the room of J. M. Nixon on the third floor.

GIRL WHO CONFESSES HER STORY OF BEING DRUGGED IS FALSE

MISS BERTHA LUDWIG.

LOVELORN GIRL TRIED TO HURRY LOVER BY RUSE

Bertha Ludwig Admits Tales of Drugging and Kidnaping Were False.

Miss Bertha Ludwig has confessed that to win her sweetheart, to arouse his jealousy and make him believe that if he did not marry her right away, someone else would get her, she pretended that a man had chloroformed her, and she wrote the note that was found pinned to her dress. She made this confession to the mother of Charles Schmidt, the young man with whom she is desperately in love.

Charles Schmidt is 20 years old. He lives with his widowed mother. He and Bertha Ludwig have been sweethearts for a year. He admits that he loves her very much and that he wishes to marry her. Bertha declares that she loves him. But Mrs. Schmidt will not permit her son to marry the girl.

Tuesday evening Mrs. Schmidt went to the Ludwig home at 3369 South Seventh street to talk with Bertha. When she got there Bertha was lying on a sofa, apparently unconscious. Her mother was wringing her hands and weeping. Bertha's eyes stared vacantly at the ceiling. Mrs. Schmidt sat down beside her and took her hand.

Admitted Her Deception.

"Bertha, what on earth are you doing this for?" asked Mrs. Schmidt. The girl continued to stare at the ceiling.

"Why, Bertha, you know me. Don't stare that way. You know I am Charlie's mother. Come, sit up and let's talk this thing over," said Mrs. Schmidt.

Then Bertha sat up and, weeping, confessed that she planned and carried out the deception to impress her sweetheart.

Later she made the same confession to Policemen Eichorn and Maher.

"Charlie kept putting off our marriage for a whole year," she said. "I knew he loved me just I loved him and that he would marry me if it was not for his mother. So I planned this thing to make him think that he was not the only one who loved me and wanted me. I thought it would make him think that some other man loved me so desperately he was willing to kidnap me or do anything to get me. I thought this would stir Charlie up and make him marry me right away.

Expected to Hasten Wedding.

"I expected that as soon as Charlie heard that some man had chloroformed me on the street he would rush down to see me. It was for the same reason I told the story that some man came into our house a week ago and tried to carry me off by force. I thought if Charlie loved me as he professed to he would take me right away for fear the other man would get me. There is no other man who cares for me and I do not care for anyone but Charlie."

Miss Ludwig confessed, too, that she put her wages, $4, between her toes to hide it from her mother. She expected to be married and would need the money herself. There was a note of pride in her voice as she said to the policeman:

"Well, I fooled the doctor and the police and everyone, anyway."

PATRICK AFTER 23 EFFORTS, GETS WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Case of Lawyer Convicted of Millionaire's Murder to Be Heard in March.

NEW YORK Feb. 3.—Albert T. Patrick, serving a life sentence in Sing Sing prison for the murder of William Marsh Rice in September, 1900, has obtained a writ of habeas corpus and the case will be heard on the first Monday in March. This is the twenty-third effort of Patrick, his counsel and friends to obtain his release. Among the latter, John T. Milliken of St. Louis, his brother-in-law, has been the most persistent.

It is stated that the precise questions raised in this petition have never been passed upon. The contention is that the then Gov. Higgins, who, on Dec. 20, 1906, commuted Patrick's sentence from death to life imprisonment, that it was thereby made a different and unequal punishment from that provided by law and altered the situation to the disadvantage of Patrick, and over his protest; that under this edict Patrick has been held in involuntary servitude for more than two years.

ROBBER "TED" BROKE JAW OF VICTIM WHO RECOGNIZED HIM

Edward Fitzgerald Punished for Offering Advice to Highwayman He Knew.

Edward Fitzgerald of 1732 O'Fallon street recognized one of two highwaymen who "strong-armed" and robbed him of $2 at Twenty-first and Division streets shortly after 9 p. m. Tuesday.

"No use for you to rob me, Ted, because I know you," said Fitzgerald, addressing one of the robbers.

"Ted" turned and struck Fitzgerald on the left jaw, fracturing the bone.

Fitzgerald later gave the police a good description of the robbers. He said the man he recognized lives in the West End.

DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION

Quickly Cures Rheumatic Pains, Also System Builder.

Go to any good prescription druggist and get the following:

One ounce compound syrup of Sarsaparilla, and one ounce Toris compound. Add these to a half pint of first class whiskey, and use a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time. The bottle must be well shaken each time.

Although this is seemingly a commonplace formula, yet it is the most effective known for the eradication of acid poisons from the blood, absolutely curing all kinds of rheumatism, and at the same time restoring the whole system to a vigorous, healthy condition.

The enfeebled body and nerves will feel its remarkable restoring effects after the first few doses, but it should be continued until health is fully recovered.

The prompt use of this excellent mixture will be found to save many a dollar in doctor bills and much suffering.

Local druggists say that the demand for this prescription has grown a hundredfold within the past year not only here but all over the country, and that very remarkable results have come from its use. * * *

SCRANTON WOMAN MAKES REMARKABLE DISCOVERY THAT PROVES TO BE A GREAT AID TO BEAUTY

Broad-Minded and Liberal, She Offers to Give Particulars to All Who Write, Absolutely Free

Della Ellison of Scranton, Pa., seems to be the woman whose name shall go down in history as the discoverer of the true secret of beauty. For centuries past women have realized that wrinkles not only made them look much older than they were, but were also the destroyer of their beauty, and with ceaseless efforts they have sought to stay the hand of time, which robbed them of this most valuable charm.

Knowing that the homely woman with deep lines and furrows must fight an unequal battle with her younger and better looking sister, many resorted to annoying and even dangerous experiments trying to regain their former youthful appearance. This new discovery, however, will do away with all these rash measures, as the treatment is harmless and simple. It is said that aside from banishing wrinkles in from one to three nights it is a great aid to beauty, making the skin soft and velvety and beautifying the complexion. Many who have followed Miss Ellison's advice look from five to twenty years younger, and judging by the number of replies she is receiving daily, people are not slow at taking advantage of her generous offer.

It comes as a surprise that the discovery should be made by a modest little woman in Scranton when our large cities are full of beauty doctors and specialists who have sought in vain for a treatment that would turn back the clock of time and place the imprint of youth on the fast-fleeting footsteps of age, but far more surprising is the fact that she is to remain where she is.

In speaking of the discovery, she said: "Yes, I know there would be many advantages in my going to some of the large cities, but I have made arrangements to give particulars of my treatment Free to all who write me, so that the women in every city and town may have the benefits of my discovery."

This statement shows that she is both broadminded and generous, and all who wish to banish their wrinkles and improve their complexion should write her at once. Her address is

DELLA ELLISON, 418 Burr Bldg., Scranton, Pa.

Just state that you wish particulars of her discovery and she will send them in sealed envelope free of charge.

CAUSE FOR ALARM

Loss of Appetite or Distress After Eating a Symptom That Should Not Be Disregarded.

Appetite is just a natural desire for food. Loss of appetite or stomach distress after eating indicate indigestion or dyspepsia. Over-eating is a habit very dangerous to a person's good general health, and insatiable appetite is a sure symptom of diabetes.

It is not what you eat but what you digest and assimilate that does you good. Some of the strongest, heaviest and healthiest persons are moderate eaters.

There is nothing that will create sickness or cause more trouble than a disordered stomach, and many people daily contract serious maladies simply through disregard or abuse of the stomach.

We urge everyone in St. Louis who is suffering from any stomach derangement, indigestion or dyspepsia, whether acute or chronic, to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, with the distinct understanding that we will refund their money without question or formality, if after reasonable use of this medicine, they are not perfectly satisfied with the results. We recommend them to our customers every day, and have yet to hear of anyone who has not been benefited by them. We honestly believe them to be without equal. They are made from the prescription of a physician who devoted all his time to the study and treatment of stomach troubles. They give very prompt relief, neutralize the gastric juices, strengthen the digestive organs, create good digestion and assimilation, naturally regulate the bowels, promote perfect nutrition, and create a permanent cure of all unhealthy symptoms.

We urge you to try a 25c box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets, which gives 15 days' treatment. At the end of that time, your money will be returned to you if you are not satisfied. Of course, in chronic cases length of treatment varies. For such cases, we have two larger sizes, which sell for 45c and 89c. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., 6th and Washington.

PILES CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE

FISTULA—FISSURE

PAY WHEN CURED

To Those Who Suffer With Piles, Fistula, Fissure, Etc.

I present in this advertisement a few letters and names of former patients whom I have cured of Rectal troubles within the last few months. Some had suffered as long as thirty years—tried every known remedy and other physicians before they came to me. They not only suffered, but lost time and spent a great deal of money, all without obtaining a cure, until they came to me and placed themselves under my treatment and care, with the result that they were cured sound and well in a short time of their Rectal troubles for all time to come, and are now enjoying health, comfort and happiness for the first time since they became afflicted.

Don't think to yourself that my treatment will be too expensive, but come and see me. Let me examine you and tell you first what it will cost you to be cured. If, after examination, you do not wish to take my treatment, you are under no obligation whatever. If you do take treatment, remember that I guarantee a cure in every case I accept, or do not receive one cent for my services. Call and see me, or write to my former patients and learn from them what I did for them. Ask them whether or not you can depend upon what I tell you, whether or not I cured them, and if they think I can cure you?

My treatment is strictly my own—used by no other doctor. My cures are absolutely permanent, and, when cured by me, your Piles never return. Don't go on suffering, but investigate me, my methods, treatment, etc., at once by calling on or writing to some of my former patients. Then, if the reports are satisfactory, come to me and I will cure you.

Lady Sufferers.

Remember, I cure almost as many ladies as gentlemen. Don't go on suffering, but come and let me cure you. Send for my free Ladies' Book. It contains letters from many cured lady patients, and also other valuable information. I never use the names and letters of former lady patients in the public press, or, in fact, any place, excepting in the Book, and then only upon their free and willing consent.

GENTLEMEN: Send for my free 172-page Book. It will pay you to get it; read it carefully, investigate my work, then come and be cured.

The Afflicted Out of the City

Should remember that I have under treatment all the time patients from many States. It paid all who have come to me, and it will pay you. There will be no constant suffering and monthly doctor bills after you are cured by my treatment.

Call and see me and send for my FREE Books.

Mr. Moyer Was Afflicted 17 Years.

ST. CLAIR, Mo., January 8, 1909.

M. NEY SMITH, M. D. 814 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

Dear Doctor—After I had been a sufferer with bleeding and protruding piles for nearly 17 years, and after trying most every known remedy without avail, I was directed to your office through an advertisement in one of the Sunday newspapers, which, as a result of my trip, has restored me to perfect health.

I wish to state here for the benefit of any suffering from Rectal Diseases, that after only three weeks of treatment I am now enjoying perfect health and have increased in weight 20 pounds.

I most cheerfully recommend Dr. Smith to all who are suffering with any pile trouble, as I am thoroughly convinced that he understands his business, as the result of his treatment in my case has proven it to me. Life is worth living now and I feel like a new man.

I wish to again thank you for what you have done for me, and will be glad to answer any questions that may be in the minds of the doubting ones.

Wishing you every success during the year 1909 and many to follow, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

H. J. Moyer

Mr. Williams Was Afflicted 20 Years

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 9, 1909.

Dr. M. NEY SMITH, 814 Pine Street, St. Louis, Mo.

My Dear Doctor—I had been afflicted with Piles for more than 20 years, and it finally resulted in fissure and had become extremely painful before I went to you for treatment.

Had consulted several physicians and tried every remedy I could hear of, but with only temporary relief. Always dreaded a surgical operation, but my suffering became so intense that I finally consulted you and I have never ceased to thank God for my having gone to you.

After treating me for three weeks I was cured. I have felt no symptoms of return of the trouble since then.

If I can induce any one suffering from a like trouble to go to you for treatment I shall be very glad to do so for the reason that I believe you will do exactly what you say. With my very best wishes, I am,

Very truly yours,

W. P. Williams
